Italy Cuts Island Defences as Allied Planes Still Attack

Sicily and Sardinia Subjected to More Fire and Steel by Bombers

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, June 24 (AP).—Bomber squadrons from the twin Allied Air Commands in the Mediterranean—R.A.F. heavyweights from Middle East bases and Wellingtons flying under the Northwest African Command—have again spread fire and steel over Sicilian and Sardinian targets, it was announced today.

The Middle East forces on Tuesday night drove in over the Mediterranean to assault the Italian airdrome at Comiso in Sicily, which was left erupting with two great explosions and many fires, and the hangar and workshops were squarely hit. This attack cost no Allied plane.

At the same time, said the Allied communique, the Northwest Africa Wellingtons threw in an assault upon the docks at Olbia, in Sardinia, leaving the harbor area alight.

Other formations attached to this headquarters carried out patrol sweeps, in which an enemy tanker was sunk. In all operations, the cost was two Allied planes.

Fighter-bombers from the Malta base, the third from which the Allied air offensive is being carried on, continued their long attacks on Italian transport, this time bombing the railway sidings at Pozzallo, Sicily. A German plane was shot down by R.A.F. Spitfires springing from Malta.

REPORT AXIS SHORTENS DEFENCES

LONDON, June 24 (AP).—The Axis was reported tonight to be shortening its anti-invasion defences, pulling back some of its island garrisons and concentrating more strength in the Balkans, apparently in expectation of a massive Allied blow from the southeast.

An unofficial source with continental connections said the movement extended from Sardinia eastward to the Dodecanese, while Ankara dispatches quoted a Balkan source as saying the Axis has seventy-five divisions, or approximately 1,125,000 troops, stationed in Yugoslavia, Greece, Crete and some of the larger Aegean islands.

The German radio tended to bear out this wholly unconfirmed report, stating that the Italian garrison on Castelrosso already had been with-

Graydon Is Critical of Job Board

Charges Inefficiency In Selective Service

OTTAWA, June 24 (CP).—Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House leader, said in the House of Commons today that there should be a sweeping investigation of "inefficiency" in National Selective Service administration.

Mr. Graydon said the Government had failed to use the most effective methods to utilize manpower in meeting the needs of industry, agriculture and the armed forces.

He declared that Labor Minister Mitchell, whose war appropriation estimates of $21,558,192 were before the House, should be ready to admit that manpower policy mistakes had been made instead of calling that policy the best that could be devised.

"If there ever was a need for a sweeping investigation of this administration it is now, even at this late date," Mr. Graydon said.

Rev. Dan McIvor (Liberal, Fort William) praised Mr. Mitchell's work as Minister of Labor.

He said he believed it would be well to have a clergyman on the National War Labor Board, "a man who looks to the other side of life, and I think that is needed, for today we find labor organizations sometimes holding their meetings on the Sabbath day."

CRITICIZES MEETING ON SABBATH DAY

"The members of this House, no matter to which body they belong, should not hold political meetings on the Sabbath day, and my remarks now are directed just as much to the Liberal Party as to any other party."

Extending Period for Fuel Subsidy

Will Prevent Firewood Famine

OTTAWA, June 24 (CP).—Munitions Minister Howe announced today in the House of Commons that to aid in preventing a possible firewood famine next Winter, the period during which the Government will subsidize fuel wood production at $1 a cord has been extended to December 31.

In a subsequent statement issued by the Munitions Department he said:

"I should like to remind farmers and farm workers, entitled to postponement of military training, and living in areas where they can spare time from their normal agricultural pursuits, that their postponement will not be affected by engaging temporarily in cutting firewood.

"I might point out, however, that such temporary absences from the farm must not interfere with agricultural production."

When the subsidy plan was announced March 4, the decision to pay $1 a cord, to dealers only, on commercial cordwood contracted for and cut on or before June 30 and delivered to a dealer or held to his account after March 5, 1943. Under the extension, the subsidy will be paid on the same basis for cordwood cut on or before December 31.

The minister also urged dealers to arrange, wherever possible, for the purchase of slabwood from mills.

"On such purchases a transportation subsidy will be paid, if the dealer can show that otherwise he could not obtain the wood for his customers," he said.

The transportation subsidy can apply not only to slabwood, but also to cordwood. Dealers must obtain a permit from the controller before contracting for the supplies.

The cutting and transportation subsidies will be made available only to fuelwood dealers registered as such with the Prices Board.

The minister added that a coal shortage also exists, and warned that coal will not be available for use as a substitute for firewood.

Coal Dealers Seeking Draft Of Delivery Men

WINNIPEG, June 24 (CP).—Labor Minister Mitchell has been asked by the coal dealers of Winnipeg to draft men on a compulsory basis to handle deliveries here.

The dealers' association, the Winnipeg Coal Exchange, has wired Mr. Mitchell, saying:

"Dealers in Greater Winnipeg are reduced to skeleton staffs and utterly unable to make deliveries to thousands of consumers who have ordered fuel."

They require 300 men at once if a coal famine is to be averted here next Winter, Mr. Mitchell was told.

The dealers also asked that they be permitted to advertise and hire workers direct.

Hon. J. S. McDiarmid, Manitoba Minister of Natural Resources, said today that 330,000 cords of standing dry wood and poplar are available for cutting if labor could be secured.

He said 50,000 cords of wood could be hauled out to shipping points this Summer and later sent to central districts if an adjustment of freight rates could be received on shipments from Northern Manitoba. A force of 2,700 men would be required.

Archbishop Replies To Pacific Protests

LONDON, June 23 (CP).—Approval of the Allied strategy of bombing Germany's industrial cities was voiced by the Archbishop of York today in a diocesan leaflet in which he replied to his countrymen who have protested against the devastating attacks.

"It is a lesser evil to bomb war-loving Germany than to sacrifice the lives of thousands of our own fellow countrymen who long for peace and, to delay the hour of liberation for millions now held in slavery," he wrote.

BOSTON, June 24 (AP).—All five personnel aboard were believed to have lost their lives when a navy plane plunged into the sea off New London, Conn., today, Naval District Headquarters announced.

WESTERN FRONT—R.A.F. Bombers smash at Italian naval base of La Spezia in shuttle raid by aircraft which landed in North Africa after bombing Friederichshafen from British bases Sunday; daylight assault on "Atlantic wall" continues.

BALKANS—Axis reported concentrating strength in South Central Europe in expectation of massive Allied blow; seventy-five Axis divisions said by Ankara source to be concentrated in Yugoslavia, Greece, Crete and larger Aegean Islands.

MEDITERRANEAN—Allied bombers under Northwest Africa Command strike at docks in Oblia, Sicily, and airdrome at Comiso, Sicily.

RUSSIA—German dispatches report Reds smashed through Axis defence positions south of Velikie Luki, but claim counter-attacks healed breach.

He Has Something to Be Happy About

British soldiers smilingly surround an Italian prisoner (centre), who holds up his right arm in a "V" sign and holds up the arm of a British soldier in the same manner after the Italian island of Pantelleria surrendered to the Allies. Days and nights of bombing and shelling by Allied planes and warships forced the defenders to surrender.

Torrential Rain Fatal in Quebec

SHERBROOKE, Que., June 24 (CP).—Two persons were killed in Quebec's Eastern Townships last week when a five-day torrential rain sent swollen rivers on a rampage that isolated dozens of communities and caused hundreds of thousands of dollars damage. News of the disastrous flooding was withheld by censorship authorities until today for security reasons.

His Majesty Flies Home

LONDON, June 25 (Friday) (CP).—The King has returned home, it was announced today, after a visit to Allied forces in North Africa and the British Mediterranean stronghold of Malta.

The King made the return trip by plane, said the announcement, which was limited to a single terse sentence:

"His Majesty, the King, arrived home safely by air this morning."

The King arrived in North Africa June 12, after a nonstop flight in a four-engined bomber. He was accompanied there by Sir Archibald Sinclair, Secretary of State for Air, and Sir James Grigg, Secretary of State for War.

The King has traveled more than 4,000 miles since he left England.

During the tour he inspected British troops in Tunisia as well as members of the American Fifth Army in North Africa, and visited battered Malta in a Royal Navy cruiser.

Canadians Return From History-Making Attack

Reach England Safely After One of War's Most Daring Bombing Operations

LONDON, June 24 (CP).—Scores of Canadians who helped the R.A.F. write a new chapter in the ever-increasing aerial pounding of the Axis stepped from their black Lancasters shortly before dawn today and told of a shuttle operation which constituted one of the most daring bombing expeditions of the war.

They were among the history-making crews who soared from their bases in Britain last Sunday, bombed Friedrichshaven in Southern Germany and flew on to airdromes in North Africa.

The return trip started last night and the flyers, having bombed up in North Africa, blasted the Italian naval base of Spezia on the homeward flight. They suffered no loss.

Elated over the feat, the men piled into breakfast with such comments as those of F/O. Steve Boczar, of Saskatoon, who said: "It was a grand trip. There were big fires from oil dumps in Spezia and another big fire in Friedrichshaven.

IN FORMATION BY MOONLIGHT

"We flew in formation to the German target and were able to read our maps all the way, the moonlight was so bright. The defence was nothing to speak of."

There were four other Canadians in Boczar's crew—Sergeants Russ Webb of Glen Ayon, Sask., and Fort Francis, Ont., and George Boswell, of Yellow Grass, Sask., Flt. Sgt.

General Lost In Kiel Attack

LONDON, June 25 (Friday) (CP).—Brig.-Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest, great-grandson and namesake of the famed Confederate general, was lost June 13 in one of history's greatest aerial fights during the mass American daylight attack on Kiel, Germany.

An announcement today listed the thirty-eight-year-old general, who rode as an observer on a heavy bomber which led the assault, as missing. His plane was shot down.

Forrest, as chief of staff for Maj.-Gen. Robert Olds, commander of the Second Air Force in the United States, played an important role in the development and expansion of the heavy bombardment programme.

The young general was the first American of his rank to become a combat casualty in this theatre. His loss made a total of fifteen American generals and admirals to be listed as missing or killed in the war.

Report Landslide From Gibraltar

LONDON, June 24 (CP).—The Berlin radio quoted dispatches from Seville today as claiming a sudden landslide had dislodged a million tons of earth and rock from the eastern face of Gibraltar.

The broadcast, recorded by The Associated Press, asserted it would take more than a year to clear away the debris and that British military authorities had decided to build new approaches.

There was no confirmation of the report from British sources.

NAZI OFFICE WRECKED

NEW YORK, June 24 (CP).—The main German recruiting office in Holland for forced labor has been "wrecked," a B.B.C. broadcast heard here by C.B.S. said tonight. The broadcast added that "out of 300,000 Dutchmen who were supposed to report for work, only fifty appeared."

Russian Army Smashes Axis Defence Line

Germans Claim New Breach Sealed Off

LONDON, June 24 (CP).—German dispatches reported tonight that the Red Army had smashed into Axis lines south of Velikie Luki, only eighty miles from the Latvian border, but claimed a German counter-attack had sealed off the breach in this sector which had been comparatively quiet for months.

The regular midnight Moscow communique did not specifically name the Velikie Luki sector, but said Soviet scouts and artillery had destroyed twelve dugouts and eight machine guns on the western front. Velikie Luki is 275 miles west of Moscow.

A special Moscow broadcast also announced that the Germans lost nineteen planes in attempted daylight attacks Wednesday on towns near Leningrad. Four Russian planes were lost in blocking the raiders, which failed to reach the towns, the announcement said.

Soviet scouts also killed 180 Germans and destroyed three large blockhouses and several machine-gun points in another stab into German positions west of Axis-held Belgorod on the southern front, said the Moscow bulletin recorded by the Soviet radio monitor.

The Soviet noon communique, as recorded by the Soviet radio monitor in London from a Moscow broadcast, said there was only desultory action on the front last night.

Twenty Tons of Bombs Dropped On Enemy Base

Rekata Bay Pounded By American Planes

AN ADVANCE SOUTH PACIFIC BASE, June 24 (AP).—American bombers unloaded twenty tons of bombs on Rekata Bay, Japanese seaplane base and submarine fueling station on Santa Isabel Island in the Solomons, yesterday morning.

South Pacific Force headquarters reported today that several bomb hits were scored and one fire was started. Fighter planes escorted the bombers.

Maintaining steady aerial pressure against enemy bases in the Solomons, United States Air Forces delivered another bombing strike Wednesday on Bur Village, a new enemy outpost on Gannanga Island.

RUSH TO SECURE ARMS

LONDON, June 24 (CP).—Latest sign of Nazi invasion jitters is a rush by Netherlands National Socialists to arm themselves, Aneta News Agency said today. The run has reached such proportions that the Dutch Nazi party has issued an order forbidding party members to purchase arms, except through regional party leaders.

Night Attack Follows Big Day Raid by 400 Bombers On Hitler's "Atlantic Wall"

Daytime Assault Stretches From The Netherlands to Cherbourg

LONDON, June 25 (Friday) (AP).—The Allied Air Forces pounded Hitler's "Atlantic wall" defences with from 400 to 500 bombers and fighters by daylight Thursday in one of the busiest day offensives yet launched in the new stepped-up air war over Europe, and then quickly returned to the attack after dark to keep the battering assault on a round-the-clock basis.

Late last night waves of heavy bombers were heard roaring across the southeast coast toward the continent, flying at a great height. Coastal observers said the noise of their engines was incessant for a long time as they headed across the Channel.

These two attacks—the big daylight raids, which stretched from the Netherlands to the Cherbourg Peninsula of France, and the night flights—followed a spectacular bombing of the Italian naval base of La Spezia by a new Britain-Africa shuttle technique.

Six types of Allied craft churning the air in swarms carried out the big daylight attack, bombing Nazi airfields and war installations along the French, Belgian and Netherlands coasts.

Thunderbolts, the fastest and heaviest-gunned United States single seat fighters, joined Spitfires, Typhoons, Venturas and Bostons, of the R.A.F. in the virtually unprecedented day sweeps.

MEET NO NAZI OPPOSITION

Later Mitchell light bombers with Spitfire escorts attacked airfields at Brest and Typhoon fighter-bombers raided Morlaix airport, meeting no Nazi opposition. In the evening, Venturas bombed a power station at Yainville near Rouen.

La Spezia was pounded early Thursday by several squadrons of Lancaster bombers in a surprise assault after these same planes had smashed at Friedrichshaven in Southern Germany Sunday night and then flown on to North Africa.

From Europe Day by Day—

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

(Copyright, 1943, by Southam Co.)

LONDON, June 24.—Mulheim has been added to Germany's other ruined towns by a brief visit from United Kingdom and Canadian airmen. It was blitzed within twenty-four hours of the partial destruction of the other industrial centre of Krefeld, where fires are still burning.

The extent and power of the Royal Air Force's bombing, says the diplomatic correspondent of The Times, is now obsessing the Nazis as much as the Red Army's successes did last Winter.

After first making light of the raids, the Nazi leaders are now allowing descriptions to be published, giving harrowing details of homes and historic buildings being destroyed, but saying nothing about the heavy destruction of armament factories.

Furthermore, evacuation is on such a large scale that efforts are necessary to get the Germans in safe areas to shelter evacuees. Prison is now an alternative for those who close their doors on bombed-out families. Nazi newspapers, which once boasted no bombs would ever fall here, are now directed to describe the Royal Air Force attacks as stabs in the back—a phrase that, for Germans, recalls the British blockade of the last war and the supposed home-front treachery that disintegrated the Kaiser's armies.

So great is housing shortage through destruction of German cities that wooden huts have been ordered from Norway.

Superiority in bombing on the British side is already so great (5,000 tons of bombs monthly is the minimum dropped on Germany, or fifteen times as much as the Germans can drop on Britain in an equivalent period.

The agreement reached in Algiers between Generals Giraud and De Gaulle, says the correspondent of The Times there, is regarded as no solution at all.

French forces remain under separate commands and are brought together under the Committee for National Liberation only formally. This is felt to be less satisfactory than the discarded proposals whereby Giraud became Commander in Chief and De Gaulle Commissioner for Defence. However, a new military committee has been set up to work out details of closer co-operation.

Premier Curtin of Australia has won his vote of confidence by a majority of one. The debate on the Government's conduct of the war, says the Canberra correspondent of The Times, was especially bitter, having been complicated by allegations that documents dealing with the projected retreat of Australian and American forces from Northern Australia were missing from the War Council's archives.

Premier Curtin denied knowing anything about the missing documents, but Opposition Leader Fadden declared this was not enough. The Premier must state whether he proposed to allow his ministerial colleague to make reckless and unfounded assertions.

Minister of Labor Ward, however,

Curtin Will Go to Polls In Australia

Decision Follows Narrow Win in House

CANBERRA, June 24 (CP).—Australians started preparing today for their second wartime general election after the Labor Government of Prime Minister John Curtin survived a parliamentary crisis of the kind that has become common here in the last three years.

By the margin of a single vote, the Curtin Government was sustained early today on a motion of non-confidence. The man of the hour was Arthur W. Coles, an Independent Australia Party member, who voted with the Government, as he has done right along.

"It is palpable," said Curtin after the vote was taken, "that the capacity of the present parliament to serve the country has reached an end." He announced that he would seek dissolution after several formal and non-contentious bills had been passed.

During the parliamentary debate, Curtin also announced he would appoint a Royal Commission to investigate matters arising from a statement by Labor Minister E. J. Ward in the House that he (Ward) had been informed reliably an important report is missing from the official file on Australian home defence.

Curtin said that, according to normal practice in such circumstances, he had asked Ward to refrain from carrying on his duties as minister until the report of the Royal Commission is tabled in Parliament.

Start Big Fires In New Guinea

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, June 25 (Friday) (CP).—Allied medium bombers set big fires yesterday at Salamaua, New Guinea, in a low-level attack, the High Command announced today.

Allied fighters destroyed two Japanese bombers over the Tanimbar Islands, 300 miles north of Darwin.

In the reawakened ground fighting sector at Mubo, twelve miles south of Salamaua, Allied attack planes bombed and strafed the Japanese position on Woody Island and along adjacent tracks in support of the ground troops. But "the ground situation was quiet," the communique said.

"In his recent attacks, the enemy sustained over 200 known casualties," it added.

"Our losses were very light in proportion."

Over Tanimbar, Allied long-range fighters heavily strafed the airdrome on Selaru, destroying two enemy reconnaissance bombers which were on the ground.

At Salamaua, the airdrome buildings and installations as well as adjacent villages occupied were the targets.

The communique said the raiders started large fires in the supply and fuel dumps.

Air Raids Seem to Indicate Sicily to Be Next Objective

LONDON, June 24 (AP).—The pattern of the Allied air attack—one of the surest signposts of the future course of the war—has suggested strongly that Sicily may soon become the next objective of the 1943 Allied land forces and that full-scale invasion from the West along the road to Berlin is not likely until later.

This is unofficial speculation, based on a study of the targets of the aerial onslaught and the reaction along the still-stabilized Eastern front in Russia.

By a carefully-studied plan the mighty winged partnership of the R.A.F., the R.C.A.F. and the United States 8th Air Force is concentrating upon the factory-by-factory ruin of the Reich's Ruhr war plants.

Obviously the crippling toll of this systematic assault is not sapping the Axis field force at present massed awaiting invasion, but is intended to whittle down and prevent the replacement of the Wehrmacht's power in the months to come.

When actual preinvasion bombing comes it probably will find terrific Allied striking power centred on destruction of airfields on the French front and on rail and rail supply lines to the invasion coast.

This clearly is developing in Sicily.

There is every indication in the massing of Allied armies in North Africa and the Middle East that a mop-up of Sardinia, Crete and the Dodecanese Islands might be undertaken at virtually the same time.

Lord Halifax Coming Here Late in July

Viscount Halifax, Britain's distinguished ambassador to the United States, will visit Victoria on July 24, it was announced yesterday by Harold C. Swan, British consul stationed at Seattle.

Lord Halifax will be accompanied by Lady Halifax and their son, Lieutenant the Hon. Richard F. Wood, who suffered the loss of both legs in North Africa. It is believed the visit will be in the nature of a holiday for the British Ambassador, who has had many duties to fulfill since going to Washington.

It is expected that Viscount Halifax and his party will reach Seattle on July 21, and arrive in Victoria three days later, although Government House has not yet been officially notified of the visit.

When war began in 1939, Viscount Halifax was Britain's Foreign Secretary, and previously, from 1926 to 1931, he had been Viceroy of India. In his present post he succeeded the late Lord Lothian.

The Victoria men's Canadian Club has extended an invitation to Lord Halifax to address a luncheon meeting of the club during his stay, stated Frank J. Sehl, secretary.

Fianna Fail Loses Majority

DUBLIN, June 25 (Friday) (CP).—Prime Minister Eamon de Valera's Fianna Fail party lost its majority in the Dail in Tuesday's general election, virtually complete returns disclosed today, winning only sixty-seven seats to seventy-one for the combined opposition.

The outcome terminated the Prime Minister's eleven-year-old hold on the helm of the Government, but the turnover was not expected to result in any radical change in Eire's foreign policy, inasmuch as the question of continued neutrality was not an issue in the campaign.

De Valera himself retained his seat in the Dail, but he had said that, if his party were defeated, he would take no part in the formation of a coalition government advocated by William Cosgrave, leader of the Fine Gael, or United Ireland party.

ANTI-FASCISTS ARRESTED

BERNE, Switzerland, June 24 (AP).—Reliable sources reported today the arrest of more than 7,000 anti-Fascists and other dissidents by Italian police under the direction of their newly appointed chief, Renzo Chierici, a graduate of the castor-oil-and-cudgel days of Fascism. The reports were not confirmed in other quarters.

Mitchell Suggests a Doukhobor May Some Day Be Coast Mayor

Promises Stirling Something May Be Done to Put Them to Work in Helping the War Effort

OTTAWA, June 24 (CP).—Hon. Grote Stirling (Prog. Con., Yale) said in the House of Commons tonight that no action has been taken against British Columbia Doukhobors who have failed to respond to mobilization act notices, while other residents of the same communities have complied with regulations, or, when they failed to do so, have been proceeded against.

Mr. Stirling said the first leader of the Doukhobors in Canada, Peter Veregin, had been killed in a bomb explosion blamed on a recalcitrant member of his own band. He had been followed by Peter Veregin II, who died a year or two ago, who was "intemperate, bestial, a bully, a perjurer, but was looked on as the descendant of God by his followers."

A Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer had examined the Doukhobor problem and made suggestions as to how Doukhobor men in military age groups could be used to cut fuelwood.

Some such work should be provided for them, "so that these people may no longer hang around the beer parlors and pool halls . . ." said Mr. Stirling.

INDICATES DOUKHOBORS BECOME "CIVILIZED"

Labor Minister Mitchell, whose war appropriation estimates were under review, said that Mr. Stirling's mention of the Doukobors' association with beer parlors and poolrooms indicated "they are becoming civilized in a way they were not in the Old Country."

One of the reasons for the success of British Government was that it did not interfere too much with other people. What Mr. Stirling had said indicaed the Doukhobors eventually would become assimilated within the bosom of the Canadian family.

"Not in our lifetime," said Tom Reid (Liberal, New Westminster).

"When my good friend, the honorable member for New Westminster, is pushing up the daisies there may even be a Doukhobor mayor of New Westminster," said Mr. Mitchell.

It was to the credit of the Labor Department that it had been able to have the Doukhobors co-operate more than they had in the past.

"If my honorable friend (Mr. Stirling) will leave the Doukhobor problem with us for another six months we will see if we can get it on the rails, and have these people play the same part that other conscientious objectors are playing at the moment in the life of this country," said the minister.

Hughes Cleaver (Lib., Halton) said there would have to be a substantial movement of workers from war industries which were "tapering off" at a time when the needs of other essential industries were developing.

WAR EFFORT MORE APPRECIATED ABROAD

Canada's war effort apparently was more appreciated abroad than in the House, he commented.

R. B. McKinnon (Liberal, Kenora-Rainy River) said the public often was more responsible for industrial disputes than it realized. Public opinion, if brought to bear in time, often could have avoided strikes developing.

"No strike ever occurs which could not have been avoided by men of good will," he said.

The Government should go "all out" in supporting workers obtaining full collective bargaining rights. Recognition of mutual rights as between labor and industry would lead to industrial peace.

The actual compulsory transfer of workers under Selective Service should be undertaken only after cases concerned had been examined by a local committee.

The Government should be a model employer and "the milk of human kindness should be injected into those people on the treasury board" to permit speedy improvement in salaries paid civil servants in lower grades.

Alfred Bence (Progressive Conservative, Saskatoon City) said the manpower policy should have been called the best that could be improvised in the past six months.

Some assertions made by Mr. Mitchell in his review of manpower policies yesterday actually were nothing more than "pious hopes."

Mr. Bence said it appeared that Elliott M. Little, former director of National Selective Service, had been given "an unfair deal" by the Administration.

LITTLE "PUSHED OFF" THE SHIP

"Mr. Little did not quit the ship, he was pushed off," said Mr. Bence.

Copies of a draft order in council drawn up by Mr. Little's department and the Justice Department contained a provision for detention for a day of any person who wilfully insulted the director during a hearing.

Mr. Bence said this section of the draft order had been sent throughout the country "in black type," evidently to give people a wrongful opinion of Mr. Little.

Actually the section was found in other Federal regulations, and its inclusion in a draft order favored by Mr. Little did not mean he personally had asked it be inserted.

Dr. G. Pauteux (Liberal, Montreal St. Mary) said he believed the Progressive Conservatives had been sorry conscription for overseas was not imposed. They had wished it imposed, not to save their country, but to save their party.

MINISTER IN LONDON

LONDON, June 24 (CP).—R. G. Casey, British Minister of State for the Middle East, has arrived in London for consultations with the War Cabinet, it was announced today. Casey participated last month in a conference of the Allied Middle East Council of military and civil leaders at Cairo.

Freighter Has Close Escape

Propeller Blown Off In Midst of Battle

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT, June 24 (CP).—Attacked in the night by an enemy submarine scouting a convoy in the Atlantic, crewmen of an Ontario lake freighter told today how the blast of an exploding depth charge tore off their propeller and left them adrift until taken in tow by another naval ship.

Her hull rusted and barnacle-covered from months of the North Atlantic trade routes, the dumpy little laker presented little of her peacetime appearance as she shunted up to a Canadian dock for the first time in many a moon.

Poking skyward from her stern was the ugly muzzle of her anti-submarine gun, getting its last polishing from her crew of Royal Navy gunners. After a refit, the laker will return to the inland seas for a few cargoes before going back to the ocean trade.

"MIGHTY LUCKY OLD TUB"

"She's a mighty lucky old tub," one of the crewmen remarked. "It's pretty hard to remember how many times the Germans have tried to get her with torpedoes; she's watched a lot of other ships go down but so far all she's lost is her propeller."

The night that happened they said they were warned to look out for U-boats and started firing "on the first thing that looked like a submarine."

The men said the next thing they heard was the burst of the escort ship's depth charges and some of them almost lifted the laker's stern out of the water.

"One of them did get the ship's propeller and left us helpless right in the middle of things," crewmen said. "Luckily one of the escorts got a line on us and towed us in—or we mightn't have been here to tell the tale."

Germany Raided

to seat the crews and refuel. Canadian crews manned some of the planes. The flight inaugurated a shuttle of great potentialities.

Thursday's targets in the furious daylight battering launched from Britain were oil storage targets at Flushing, Holland, and in France freight yards at St. Omer, an airfield at nearby Fort Rouge, the airfield at Abbeville and another at Maupertus near Cherbourg.

The hard-hitting Allied planes ruled the skies during the attack, beating off the best efforts of German day fighters to break up the operation.

SPITFIRES DOWN TEN AIRCRAFT

R.A.F. Spitfires downed ten enemy aircraft and probably knocked out others, while the Americans got one for certain. British and other Allied losses were one bomber and four fighters.

Thus the Allies, although fighting over enemy territory and often over his airfields and in range of his anti-aircraft guns, scored better than two-to-one over the Germans' best fighters.

Polish fighter pilots escorted the Venturas in perfect weather to the attack on Flushing only twenty-four hours after Hollanders had been warned from London to move away from war industries working for the Nazis. A similar warning to the Belgians Monday was followed by an American raid Tuesday on Antwerp. Thus the Allies appeared to be telegraphing their punches to save citizens of occupied lands.

Canadian and Norwegian squadrons escorted the bombers on the first attack upon St. Omer. The Typhoons struck a short time later, concentrating on Fort Rouge airfield. Fighters of a New Zealand squadron escorted the Typhoon bombers to Abbeville. Venturas attacked Maupertus.

DO NOT SIGHT SINGLE NAZI PLANE

Some raiders did not even sight a single enemy plane.

The R.C.A.F. fighter wing destroyed three enemy planes in the sweep, bringing its total to eighteen. Wing Cmdr. J. E. Johnson, an Englishman attached to the R.C.A.F., got one, Sqdn. Ldr. R. W. McNair, of North Battleford, Sask., got the second and Flt. Lt. H. D. MacDonald, of Toronto, downed the third.

McNair's prize was his second this week. He got one last Sunday when he was out for the first time with the Red Indian squadron which he now commands. MacDonald, flight commander of the Wolf Squadron, brought his total to six. The Red Indian and Wolf outfit were heading home together when they attacked but the enemy dived and escaped.

The changes in locale of the night and day attacks gave at least a brief respite to the German Ruhr from which, it was reliably reported, more than 1,000,000 persons had already been moved to "safer" areas northeast, east, and west, including thousands of workers from shattered factories.

The bombing of La Spezia in a "double-header" raid upon Germany and Italy added a dramatic new note to the aerial offensive by Britain's heavyweights.

Aeronautical sources in London said the shuttle should have tremendous effect on the bomb-nervous Germans and Italians, especially since not a plane was lost.

MIGHT BECOME NEW PATTERN

There was speculation but no official comment as to whether such Britain-North Africa hops might become a widely-used pattern for Allied air assaults, with long-range United States planes also using the technique.

Seeking to cheer bomb-harassed people, the German radio declared that the Nazi Air Force's fighter strength now is enlarged "on a grand scale."

But although the R.A.F. in its latest blow upon the Ruhr reported running through concentrated defences, there was no other suggestion that the Germans actually had been able to strengthen their aerial front. For some time the Germans have had almost all their night fighters concentrated in the West.

Another Berlin broadcast, also recorded by The Associated Press, admitted that "everybody" spoke of raid damage and added that this was natural as "such things might happen in other parts of Germany."

Indicating the large number of Germans who have lost their homes, the radio announced that as of July 1 nobody anywhere in Germany would be permitted to have more than one room a person. It also appealed to the population to give up rooms in houses or apartments voluntarily before then to help solve the acute housing problem.

Stockholm dispatches said Germany's helplessness in the face of bombing raids on her industrial cities is admitted candidly in issues of Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter reaching here.

Bombs are falling so thick on cities in West and Northwest Germany, the paper said, that the maps on which they are recorded at each city's air raid precautions headquarters are blotted out by the colored flags and pins.

BOMBING ASSAULTS WRECK AXIS PLANS

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP).—The blasting of German industrial areas by Allied bombers in repeated assaults from British bases may have wrecked Axis plans for a great Summer offensive in Russia, War Secretary Henry Stimson suggested today.

Reporting that recent raids by both British and American bombers against German targets had been met by strong forces of enemy fighters, Stimson told a press conference this indicated Germany had found it necessary to concentrate much of her fighter plane strength to protect industrial and military installations on the home front.

"It is probable," he said, "that many of these planes were withdrawn from the Eastern front, which may be one reason why Germany has not yet launched a Summer offensive in Russia."

Another possible explanation for the delay of the long-expected Axis drive against the Red Army was seen in Stimson's report that Germany had shifted ten or twelve additional divisions into France, and has sent several divisions to Italy.

APPARENTLY WILL ASSIST ITALY

This latter move seemed to dispose of speculation that Germany intended to leave Italy alone to face an Allied drive from North Africa.

Stimson's statements supported a growing belief in some quarters here that the German offensive against Russia now has been abandoned. Some observers see in this a tacit admission by the German High Command that an Axis victory is no longer a possibility, that German strength must be saved to fight off Allied attacks.

In line with this, they point to a change of tone noticed in recent German broadcasts, both those for home consumption and those beamed overseas. The home broadcasts no longer threaten, or boast of Axis invincibility, but instead warn the German population of possible disaster.

Labor Board Will Insist On Contract

Ickes Summons Mine Operators to Meeting

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP).—Far from accepting a resumption of coal production as final, the United States War Labor Board refused today to insist on full compliance by the United Mine Workers with its order in the miners' wage dispute.

The board also authorized a brief statement, pointed at Interior Secretary Harold Ickes, that the labor dispute has been finally determined and only enforcements of the decision remains to be accomplished.

Ickes, as custodian of the mines, summoned twenty-nine mine owners for a conference tomorrow and in his telegram he referred to "the controversy between the mine workers and the operators which is under the jurisdiction of the War Labor Board" and expressed hope "that the controversy will be speedily settled."

When this was called to its attention, the board authorized its information director to say:

"The War Labor Board has made a final determination of the labor dispute. There is no controversy between the United Mine Workers and the operators."

STRICTLY CASE OF COMPLIANCE

Authoritative W.L.B. sources interpreted this as meaning that the board considers the case is strictly one of compliance with its decision by John L. Lewis' union.

An informed source said the members agreed today that Lewis' reservation that the Government retain control of the mines, and his refusal to sign the contract handed down by the board, should not be allowed to go unchallenged.

The board ordered last week that the United Mine Workers sign a contract with the private operators at substantially the old terms plus concessions amounting to about twenty cents a day, and agree not to strike for the duration. The U.M.W. policy committee called this an "infamous yellow dog contract."

The W.L.B. is a presidential agency and has no enforcement machinery of its own. While members of the board concede it is a physical problem to require persons to place their name on a contract, most of them are known to believe sanctions should be used against a defiant union. Sanctions might take various forms, such as stopping the dues checkoff or freezing the union's treasury.

Ickes said today that coal rationing may be necessary as a result of production losses incurred by the strikes. In anticipation that the Government will have to operate the mines for a considerable time, he disclosed plans to take a more active hand in their management.

Cut Defences

drawn. This tiny island off Southern [illegible] is considered very important for Allied amphibious forces attacking from nearby Cyprus or Syria where the Axis has said powerful Allied units were massing.

Spanish dispatches relayed from Madrid and also broadcast by Berlin said four British battleships, two anti-aircraft carriers and eighteen destroyers were concentrated at Gibraltar while two other battleships had left that British naval bastion and put out into the Mediterranean yesterday.

GIVE PICTURE OF SITUATION

The unofficial source who told of a withdrawal of Axis island garrisons, presumably to the Italian mainland in an attempt to find a stronger defence line, gave this picture of the situation:

Sicily—The garrison has been cut to four Italian divisions, whereas ten days ago it numbered from five to six divisions. There are no Germans in Sicily except some air force and special units.

Such a situation would contrast sharply with that once prevailing on Pantelleria. Although only a fraction of the size of Sicily, Pantelleria's garrison numbered approximately a full division when it surrendered after a devastating Allied air attack.

Sardinia—A garrison of two Italian divisions; no Germans are there.

Corsica—Two Italian divisions and one under-sized German regiment man this occupied French island north of Sardinia.

Lower Italy—Three Italian divisions are located in the two "toe" provinces; there is negligible troop strength in the "heel," and there are indications that the main holding line is being developed somewhere between the toe and a line drawn between Naples and Taranto.

This source estimated that the Germans in the remainder of Italy number 60,000—far below the 200,000 reported there some months ago. The Germans reported recently as moving through the Brenner Pass into Italy apparently were shifted on southeastward into the Balkans.

Axis strength in the Balkans consists of thirty-seven Italian divisions, eighteen German and twenty Bulgarian, an informed Balkan source said in Ankara. It is thought that fewer than ten of these divisions are manning the outlying islands off the Greek coast.

Deadly Cargo of 15,000 Tons of Bombs Unloaded On Reich in Past Month

Two-Thirds of Total Falls on Industrial Centres of Ruhr—Devastation "Incredible"

LONDON, June 24 (AP).—A deadly cargo of more than 15,000 tons of bombs has been unloaded on Germany in the past month by giant R.A.F. R.C.A.F. bombers, two-thirds of which have fallen on industrial centres in the Ruhr Valley where the Nazis themselves admit "incredible" devastation.

According to British figures, 10,000 tons of explosives rained ruin in the period from May 22 to June 22 on seven arms centres in that area—Dortmund, Essen, Wuppertal, Bochum, Oberhausen, Krefeld and Mulheim.

Joining the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. in this German-described "battle of the Ruhr," American four-engined bombers struck the synthetic rubber plant at Huls June 22 in their first venture into the highly industrialized valley, of which Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels once said: "The destiny of the Ruhr is the destiny of Germany itself."

The valley already has become the most bomb-battered area in the world and Britons say there is more still to come in the steadily-mounting Allied air offensive against all Axis-dominated Europe.

The Ruhr, which has 54 per cent of the hard coal of Axis Europe, 37 per cent of the pig iron, 34 per cent of steel ingots and castings, remains, in the words of one high British official, "the world's best target."

"You can't pick up a coal mine and carry it away," he declared.

Only three Ruhr towns of any consequence—Gelsenkirchen, Hamborn and Herne—have not felt a blow by a major R.A.F. force, one big enought in the Air Ministry's own words to wipe out a city of 200,000 population in one night.

Industrial production in the Ruhr was said on June 9 to have fallen about 35 per cent under 1942.

The Nazis are making no attempt to conceal the devastation. In appealing to other parts of the Reich to pitch in and aid the refugees, the Berlin radio admitted the destruction was "incredible."

Lord Selborne, Minister of Economic Warfare, estimated on June 10 that 1,000,000 homes in the Ruhr had been destroyed, leaving up to 5,000,000 persons homeless.

PRIVATEER PRODUCTION

Privateer Mine's production for May is reported as follows:

Ore milled, 1,334 tons; gold produced, 1,443.71 oz.; production per ton of ore milled, 1.08 oz.; value of production, $55,582.83.

Wing Commander To Be Air Gunner

OTTAWA, June 24 (CP).—Within a few weeks, Wing Cmdr. Charles Gray, thirty-five, director of accounts at Air Force Headquarters here, expects to become "P.O. Charles Gray, air gunner," because on graduation he will revert to pilot officer's rank to ply his new "trade."

The R.C.A.F. said in a press release today that Wing Cmdr. Gray has been waiting for two years for the chance to remuster to air crew. All that time he has been metaphorically punching an adding machine even while he dreamed of punching lead into enemy aircraft with a machine gun.

With air force minimum requirements for air crew relaxed to some extent, Wing Cmdr. Gray is approaching the realization of his ambition. Born in England, he came to Canada when seventeen years of age.

Wing Cmdr. Gray is well known in Vancouver as an oarsman. With Clive McConnan, he held the North Pacific 140-pound doubles championship from 1928 to 1933. He is also a skiing enthusiast, and has held several slalom and downhill titles.

V.I. Farmers Worry Over Delayed Crops

VANCOUVER, June 24 (CP).—Vancouver Island farmers have ceased to worry about farm help at the moment and are worrying about their delayed and diminished crops, slowed down due to the weather, William MacGillivray, director of the Emergency Farm Labor Service, reported today on his return from a trip to the Island.

"There is a surplus of strawberry pickers there," he said. "However, the loganberry crop is expected to be exceptionally heavy and approximately 500 more pickers will be needed for it. Hay-making is also delayed, but when the time comes to cut there may be difficulty getting sufficient help."

Native Daughter Of Nanaimo Dies At Seventy-Seven

NANAIMO, June 24—Mrs. Frances Emma Coburn, seventy-seven, who was born in Nanaimo and always lived in this district, is dead. She was the mother of the late Alan Coburn, known across Canada in the Canadian Legion, and who predeceased her several months ago.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Parkhurst, Pasadena; Miss Edna Coburn, Nanaimo; two brothers, Robert and William Wenborn, Vancouver, and one sister in Nanaimo.

Rev. Mr. Reed will officiate at funeral services in Jenkins Chapel, Saturday, at 2.30 p.m. Burial will be in Nanaimo Cemetery.

General Ross Dies At Island Home

DUNCAN, June 24—Brigadier-General Edward Johnson Ross died suddenly at his home on Tuesday evening. He had been suffering from a heart ailment for some two or three years, but had been carrying on with his usual duties up to the time of his death. He had been a resident of Cowichan since 1940.

Besides his widow, he is survived by two sons, Surgeon-Lieutenant W. L. Ross, R.N.V.R., and a son at school in England; three daughters, Mrs. M. H. Wace, a sergeant in the W.A.C. in India; Miss J. E. Ross, who trained at University College Hospital, and L.-Cpl. Dorothy M. Ross, C.W.A.C., who has just returned to the east coast after a two-week furlough spent at her home, Maple Bay Road.

Funeral services for Brigadier-General Ross will be held Friday afternoon at 3.30 at St. Peter's, Quamichan.

Sooke School Pupils Enjoy Field Day

Students of Sooke Superior School enjoyed a field day on Wednesday. Baseball games were played on the school grounds, and after lunch the pupils, parents and friends congregated at Sooke River Flats where a varied programme of sports was carried out under the direction of their teachers, Principal W. J. Orchard, Mrs. M. Gale, Mrs. H. Waelti and Miss Eleanor Anderton.

On Thursday afternoon the parents of pupils in Division IV accepted a written invitation to see their miniature farm in the school room on which they have been busily engaged for some time.

Students of Division III held a sale of flowers for the benefit of the Red Cross, while closing exercises were also held by pupils of Divisions II and I.

Maintaining Rail Lines Great Task

C.N.R. Has 24,503 Miles of Main Track

MONTREAL, June 25 — "To maintain 24,503 miles of railway main tracks at an efficient standard is a sizeable task but, in wartime, when thousands of Canada's fighting forces and huge quantities of war supplies and materials have to be transported quickly, the importance of this job becomes greatly magnified," according to J. A. Ellis, engineer of track, Canadian National Railways.

"Good track is paramount in the safe operation of trains and last year, the C.N.R. used 74,471 gross tons of new rail in main line replacements, equal to 480 miles of track. In addition, 52,130 gross tons of relay rail was used for renewal of 369 miles of secondary lines."

Track forces make a daily inspection of all lines and should they find the slightest defect, arrangements are immediately made to correct it. During Spring and early Summer, rock slides and flood waters are the two chief trouble-makers for sectionmen but, with constant vigilance, these are reduced to the absolute minimum. Two Sperry rail detector cars operate over the system's lines during the year, checking each rail where they slowly proceed along the track. These cars contain electric magnetic mechanisms capable of detecting minute flaws in the steel rails which are not otherwise discernible.

"The track programme for 1943 is about the same as that for 1942 and is necessitated by the greatly increased traffic which the National Railways has been called upon to handle. However, by carrying out this repair schedule the C.N.R. lines will be maintained at the highest safety standard," concluded Mr. Ellis.

Arrive for Convention

Delegates are arriving in the city to attend the convention of the British Columbia Credit Union League, representing ninety-four credit unions from various parts of British Columbia, which will open on Friday morning in the K. of C. Hall and continue through Saturday.

Representatives will be present from the parent association Madison, Wisconsin, and the state of Washington, who will address a public meeting in the convention hall on Friday evening.

On Saturday evening a complimentary dinner has been arranged for all delegates and a limited number of others. Committees of the local chapter have worked energetically for some weeks to ensure complete success.

From Enemy in Aleutians Area

BRANTFORD, Ont., June 24 (CP).—Sub-Lieut. Russell B. Telfer, R.C.N.V.R., home on leave after eight months on convoy duty in the Aleutian area, said today he believed the situation in the Aleutian Islands now had reached the stage where Canada and the United States have nothing more to fear from the Japanese.

He added, however, that the Japanese will have definite cause to fear something in that area as soon as the Axis has been defeated in Europe.

Sub-Lieut. Telfer served on a corvette which conveyed supplies to the armed forces which succeeded recently in reclaiming Attu Island from the Japanese.

The friendliest possible feelings prevail between Canadian airmen and United States servicemen in the Aleutians, he declared.

Kyuquot Trollers Choose Officers

The Kyuquot Trollers' Co-operative Association semi-annual meeting was held at Kyuquot recently, when the semi-annual balance sheet and financial statement were submitted.

It was decided that the association join as a member the United Fishermen's Co-operative Society in Vancouver and also the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative Association.

It was agreed that the association should buy a $1,000 Victory Bond.

A resolution will be sent to the proper authorities recommending that the Dominion Government appoint a committee to investigate the economic penetration of the Japanese in Canada.

C. D. Clarke, education secretary of the Co-operative Wholesale Society of British Columbia, outlined the purpose of the educational department recently established. It was decided to support this department with a monthly contribution. The new ceiling prices proposed by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board were discussed and it was unanimously agreed that a strong protest should be made, as they were considerably below prices obtained during the 1942 season.

Seven new directors were elected: A. Sim, Bamfield, president; Evan Olsen, Vancouver, vice-president; directors for one year, A. North, G. Phillips, K. Miller, and for half a year, H. Skofman and Nels Alexander.

A vote of thanks and confidence was tendered H. E. Beyer, managing-secretary, who has resigned, for many years of service rendered the association. D. C. Macdonald was appointed secretary-treasurer of the association, and A. E. Carr, manager.

Canada's Honor Roll

OTTAWA, June 24 (CP).—The Canadian (Active) Army in its 321st casualty list of the war, containing eight names, tonight named four men previously reported missing as now reported killed in action.

Defence Headquarters said they fought in last August's raid on Dieppe.

The list also named four men as seriously ill.

The list brought the number officially announced by the army as dead since the war began to 1,097 and the number officially announced as missing to 827.

Following is the list:

PREVIOUSLY REPORTED MISSING, NOW REPORTED KILLED IN ACTION

Western Ontario Regiment—Pte. Ernest Parent, Windsor, Ont.

Central Ontario Regiment.—Pte. William John Findlay, Thornhill, Ont.; Pte. John Hughes, Toronto; Pte. John Murray, Toronto.

SERIOUSLY ILL

Canadian Armored Corps.—Tr. Oscar Anthony Dorval, Halifax.

Regiment de Quebec—Pte. Simon Dorais, Hull, Que.

Manitoba Regiment—L.-Cpl. Robert Irvine, Fairford, Man.

Royal Canadian Army Service Corps—Pte. William Steel Chalmers, Toronto.

SUBMARINES SUNK

LOS ANGELES, June 24 (AP).—The Los Angeles Times says at least nine Japanese submarines, possibly others, have been sunk off California and Oregon by navy and coast guard surface and air force since the United States entered the war. The Times says the tabulation was unconfirmed by the navy, but based upon substantial data.

Superintendent Of Lumber Plant Dies at Chemainus

Funeral services for Harold Warren Evans, aged fifty-two, superintendent of the Victoria Lumber & Manufacturing Company's plant at Chemainus, who died Wednesday at the Chemainus General Hospital, will be held this afternoon in Duncan.

One of the most prominent men in the Chemainus district, Mr. Evans, a native of East Claire, Wisconsin, came to Chemainus in May, 1924. He is survived by his widow, Grace; a son, Lieut. John Evans, of the U.S. Army Air Force, stationed at Miami, Fla.; two daughters, Mrs. James Childers, of Victoria, and Ann, at home; his father, Richard Evans, and a sister, Mrs. Howard Kimmell, at Newport, Wash., and a second sister, Mrs. Fred Pries, of Minneapolis, Minn.

Mr. Evans joined the staff of the Victoria Lumber & Mfg. Co., Ltd., on his arrival at Chemainus and acted as purchasing agent during the reconstruction of that mill, and until 1929, when he was appointed plant superintendent. He continued in that capacity until stricken on June 17 last.

Throughout his sojourn in Chemainus he was active in community affairs, and a man of many quiet charitable actions. He was a charter member of the Chemainus Masonic Lodge, and its secretary for four years, and also a member of Gizeh Temple, Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

Upon the formation of an A.R.P. unit in Chemainus district he was appointed Chief Warden.

His sudden passing is a severe blow to all who knew him, and his loss will be felt in the community for a long time.

Rev. A. E. H. Barber will officiate at the funeral services, which will be held at the Davis Undertaking Parlors at 4 p.m.

SURVEYING NORTHERN LINK

It is encouraging news that the Coalition Government of British Columbia is surveying the feasibility of a direct northern link with the great Alaska Highway, one that would connect provincial trunk communications with a system that will inevitably lead to material and progressive expansion of settlement in the North. If that link can be achieved by rail, rather than by highway, so much the better; but the direct connection of British Columbia with its own northlands in some form is clearly desirable, and from a national as well as provincial standpoint.

The assurance of Premier John Hart, given this week in Vancouver, that his administration is prepared for active and direct assistance towards such an accomplishment, to the extent of some millions of dollars if necessary, should at least further the study of the plan as one of practical achievement. For the unfortunate fact is that for all of the millions spent on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway and upon 22,000 miles of provincial roads, we have not yet any connection with the North, nor with the Peace River, although it is represented in our Legislature.

It may at this time be unwise to set our minds on any definite sum of money as likely to be required. It may, or may not, be possible to extend the Pacific Great Eastern Railway northward from Quesnel at a cost of $6,000,000. It may, or may not, be possible to construct a trunk road from British Columbia's interior to the North for a like sum of money. Mr. Hart himself seems to lean towards the railway, and in that he will be in numerous company. The important fact is that British Columbia, in common with northwest areas, must be active about its own affairs; and this matter of a route to the North presses.

A feature of the case that has been little touched upon yet lies in the postwar development of international aviation. It begins to appear increasingly probable that the North itself, will become a main air terminal in the postwar world, with California in a similar position in the south. If that is so, the middle coast area may find itself at some distance from the origination and handling of this new traffic. Under any such circumstances, a permanent and usable surface route to the North would be essential. Beyond that, British Columbia cannot be opened to its full potentialities until it has either road or rail communication with its own territories. One day, perhaps, it will require both.

In an undertaking of this nature, and in view of the considerable sums of money that would be involved, a preliminary survey is both good sense and inescapable. It is to be assumed that the results of that survey, in so far as British Columbia is concerned, will be reported in due course to the Twentieth Legislature, where full discussion can be given to the proposals, and the will of the peoples' representatives given on a matter that will be of lasting consequence to this Province in the immediate and more distant future. Nor should it be forgotten that the Dominion itself has some responsibilities in connection with the opening up of new territory in Canada. British Columbia can scarcely be expected to "go it alone," however anxious for the new facility.

DESTROYING FREE ENTERPRISE

Mr. Ian Mackenzie, the Federal Minister of Pensions, has voiced the opinion that "free enterprise is gone in the history of the world." In that case, if he could be believed as a prophet, freedom itself is gone, civil rights that have been fought for during centuries are to be abrogated and the very things which the free nations of the world believe that they are striving to maintain as an outcome of the present war will disappear from their ken. That, indeed, is a bleak prospect for it would mean that, if Mr. Mackenzie were correct, the struggle for human rights would have to be begun all over again. Free enterprise is one of the world's freedoms. Mr. Mackenzie and those of his ilk seem to have set out to liquidate it as apostles both of public ownership and bureaucratic control.

During war, governments take over the ownership of certain plants necessary to war effort; they control others though these remain in private ownership; they create industries designed to produce for wartime needs. In Canada one of the industries established is that at Sarnia for the manufacture of synthetic rubber, which it is hoped some day will be produced there. This, as Mr. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions, has pointed out, is exclusively the property of the Government, and he says: "So far as I know this situation will continue indefinitely . . . It is the intention of the Government to continue to operate the plant at Sarnia to make rubber for the country at war and the country at peace." Synthetic rubber will eventually be produced in this country, at a considerable cost. Mr. Howe went on to say: "We shall try to produce rubber at a competitive price, and as a Government operation. If there is no other rubber about, it might be good business for the Government to sell at a competitive price in any event, whether it can be produced at a competitive price or not." This statement is, of course, hardly intelligible for if there is "no other rubber," there will be no competition and any price would be charged for the Government's synthetic product.

The point, however, is that if Mr. Howe outlines the Government's policy aright there is a grim prospect ahead for private enterprise and a grim prospect, as well, for the taxpayers, to say nothing of the outlook of those who are interested in rising costs of living. Mr. Howe boasts that he is the man who has "done more than any man in the history of Canada to put the Government into public ownership." No doubt, like the Minister of Pensions, he, too, believes that "free enterprise is gone in the history of the world." Mr. Howe may be an excellent business executive, when he can hardly fail to have such a reputation by governmental propaganda as he is handling the taxpayers' money and censorship covers up his mistakes. What he is not is a far-seeing statesman. If he were he would not openly avow intentions to destroy one of the world's freedoms, that free enterprise which is an essential part of the structure of any progressive civilization.

ANOTHER INCOME TAX ANOMALY

Under the present intricate schedules in this country it is, perhaps, impossible to devise an income tax that is not fraught with inequalities and anomalies. It is pointed out by a correspondent that in certain income brackets the application of deductions for dependents alters the savings portion of a married man's tax considerably, while that of a single man remains unchanged. He cites an example: That of a single man and a married man with two children, each of whom earns $1,600 annually. For the single man the gross total tax is $407.20, and of this the savings portion is $128. For the married man the gross total tax is $407.20, but he can deduct $351.20 from this for dependents, leaving his net total tax at $56. The point raised by the correspondent is this: In the case of the single man, while his tax is as high as $407.20, a sum of $128 of this is compulsory savings, whereas in the case of the married man, whose tax is $56, only $28 of this is compulsory savings. The net tax payable, exclusive of compulsory savings is: For the single man, $279.20, and for the married man, $28.

The correspondent says: "The single man can carry $128 worth of insurance with no extra outlay, while the married man, with two children, is only allowed to take $28 as a credit against the insurance he carries. The situation is gradually eliminated until the income of each man reaches $2,200, from which point the pendulum begins to swing the other way, and at $10,000 the difference in favor of the married man is $966." The small wage-earner (married) should be put in the position of having a greater percentage of compulsory savings than the single man. It is as plain as a pikestaff that he will need such insurance more in the years to come.

THAT OVERTIME TAX

In spite of some protestation at Ottawa, it seems to be increasingly clear that the present income tax levy on overtime work and its remuneration is bordering upon the punitive. In a number of instances, affecting different lines of skilled trades and occupations, the deductions, it is asserted, have approached two-thirds of the sum paid for such overtime employment. There are consequences which reach far beyond the confines of the Federal Treasury.

Under the conditions of today many men and women are being asked to work overtime, and also to take part in split shifts. Both extensions are made, to some extent at least, at the expense of their vitality and strength. A larger part of the day is used up, and there is a shorter and more broken time left for rest, let alone recreation. In most instances the workers have responded generously, entirely apart from the question of the resulting remuneration.

It can hardly be held that the Federal Treasury has dealt generously with those who respond to such appeals, perhaps necessary in the light of the war production of this country. No matter how earnest in their desire to help the nation in this emergency, not many workers can feel that a two-to-one tax ratio against themselves is a fair return for double labor. It is putting a strain on the willingness of a man to take two dollars out of every three he is paid for standing after normal hours in another man's place. That, at least is what individual workers, in many different types of employment, are saying is being done. The case should be re-examined in the light of what is best not only for the treasury, but also for the working morale of our war industry.

GAINS BY WAGE-EARNERS

Wages in Great Britain have almost doubled between 1938 and 1942. On the basis of a White Paper issued by the Chancellor of the Exchequer it appears that they increased from £1,787,000,000 to £3,409,000,000, whereas salaries only increased from £1,081,000,000 to £1,408,000,000. The report says that in 1940-1941 there were 3,295,000 persons with incomes between £250 and £500, who earned a total of £1,069,000,000. A year later, however, there were 4,450,000 persons within this income range and their total emoluments had risen to £1,490,000,000. Another aspect of the report shows that there is a far greater number of £1,000-a-year men than in 1938, and also more £2,000-a-year men. When, however, it comes to the £2,000 to £10,000-a-year class, and over, the numbers and gross income have remained the same. It is those profiting through wages, not salaries, who have been the great gainers during the war years, the great gainers in the mass, and it is the same in this country and the United States.

It may be possible for postwar reconstructionists to abolish poverty, but how will they get rid of fear in the human heart? The greatest fear that obsesses those who are most eager in the fight against totalitarianism is that they will themselves lose their independence and become part of a state system.

THE LAKE ISLE OF INNISFREE

I will arise and go now, and go to Innisfree,
And a small cabin build there, of clay and wattles made;
Nine bean rows will I have there, a hive for the honey bee,
And live alone in the bee-loud glade.

And I shall have some peace there, for peace comes dropping slow,
Dropping from the veils of the morning to where the cricket sings,
There midnight's all a-glimmer, and noon a purple glow,
And evening full of the linnet's wings.

I will arise and go now, for always night and day
I hear lake water lapping with low sounds by the shore;
While I stand on the roadway, or on the pavements gray,
I hear it in the deep heart's core.

—W. B. Yeats

SONG

She's somewhere in the sunlight strong
Her tears are in the falling rain
She calls me in the wind's soft song
And with the flowers she comes again.

Yon bird is but her messenger,
The moon is but her silver ear;
Yea! sun and moon are sent by her,
And every wistful waiting star.

—Richard Le Gallienne.

Of all eloquence a nickname is the most concise and irresistible. It is a terse, pointed, shorthand mode of reasoning, condensing a volume of meaning into an epithet.—William Mathews.

TRADITION AND MEN

Life partakes, a little, of the nature of relay race. Generations carry the baton, run their race, and hand the baton on. It is difficult, if not impossible, to dissociate a man entirely from his father, or indeed from his grandfather, so much is carried forward, [illegible] that start one could go anywhere that is covered by the word tradition, but the precise object of these notes is to speak of the tradition that persists in the newspaper game. It is a singularly useful one, more important today when parliaments have sacrificed some of their true functions. To my mind, it is the newspapers of Canada that have contributed most to the freedom of speech in this land during the present conflict, and that in the face of difficult circumstances. The tradition I refer to, however, is more individual than that; it is something that has been left behind in every editorial room by the generations of men and women who have done their work and passed on. Their baton, if you like.

* * *

It is a fairly rigid, if unwritten code. To attempt to state it is, perhaps, to mutilate it a little. To begin with, a newspaperman never refuses duty, no matter at what personal cost. There is work to be done, a deadline to meet, a result to be obtained, even while the clock ticks. All of that work will die within twenty-four hours, but its place will be taken by that of the next day, the next hour. It is only by human teamwork that such a task can be performed, teamwork and a willingness to bear a hand wherever required. When you look at it, that is a useful lesson in human relations, one that can further the work of the world.

It is not written, but it is well understood, that newspapermen—which term today, and without reservation, includes women — will bring an observer's viewpoint to the tasks of the day. Personal opinions, prejudices and preconceptions are laid aside. There is the world, and its many correlated parts. What is it doing? Where do men move? How do they act? In whose company are they to be found? What does it mean, here, there or anywhere? It is a controlled mind that can observe, without personal intrusion. Yet, freedom of the individual, and many other freedoms for which men have fought and bled, rely in part upon that. Reputable journals today present the news as they find it, whether they happen to like it or not. Their views are kept for their editorial columns. An objective viewpoint is at least the standard, and most often it is attained.

* * *

It is very difficult to discuss something so abstract as restraint, yet restraint is a part of the newspaperman's creed. If all the world lived in glass houses, there would of course be no sale for stories. A sense of human values comes into it. Newspapers take the public on the side of its best intentions, where they can. They know that human nature will most often live up to what is expected of it. In any event, no difference can be made between Peter and Peter in public print, and it is most often "Mr. Peter" at that. And the same goes for Paul. Restraint, however, has many facets. Ask any member of parliament who has just made a first speech at his seat, any judge on the bench who is trying his first case, anyone who moves or speaks in public, and he will tell you restraint is part of the give-and-take of life itself.

Times and occasions change, but the newspaper game remains very much what for long years it has been. That is seldom perfection, but what in human relations is? It is usually better than it receives due credit for being. It is not easy to observe human relations dispassionately, and tell of them without leaning or bias. The fact that each day, and each hour, across Canada nameless men and women are following in the tradition of countless others who have subscribed to the same unwritten code is one of the brightest hopes for freedom of speech, and all human freedom, that I know in this land. From relay to relay, the baton is carried on. On it, I like to remember, are written the words: "For Human Weal." There is much more that any editorial room, even were there nobody in it, could tell you, but that takes the best part of a lifetime to find out. So the "game" goes on, for these men and these women, seeing so much of life, can seldom persuade themselves that any given situation among human beings is "for keeps." Time edits its own charters, minute by minute. And this column, rough as it is, is written in respectful memory of the men and the women who gave this editorial room its full share of the same unwritten code, as long as eighty-five years ago.

INSIDE GERMANY

For the moment our intention is centred on Italy, where the military situation affects the political. But in the west Italy interests us secondarily, Germany primarily.

And there are signs, which should not be exaggerated, that German morale is also sagging. It is dubious whether we are taking as great advantage of this as we could. The lack of a clear policy concerning postwar Germany; the Van Sittartism which is growing, among the United Nations, taking the form of open discussion advocating the dismemberment of Germany, its de-industrialization, subjection for years to foreign rule, and, in general, unilateral treatment, no matter what government might succeed the present one, all militate against effective political warfare. For it is obvious that even the most anti-Nazi and discouraged German will fight to the last ditch against such a programme.

The basis of Van Sittartism is that the German nation is one solid bloc of Hitlerites; that Hitlerism represents Germany's most historic and authentic tendencies; that the German people as a nation are incorrigible, and that no matter what the circumstances, or what the organization of the world, they have read themselves forever outside the comity of nations and must be permanently controlled.

This is an historical and theoretical view of Germany which I do not share. It seems to be my fate to be perennially unpopular on the question of Germany; to have been first accused of emotional exaggeration about the Nazis, and now to be accused of too much tolerance of the German people.

But if I was right about the horror and danger of Nazism it was because I analyzed Nazism, not because I analyzed the German mind, as such. Those who interpreted Fascism as a peculiarity of certain national mentalities rather than as a coalition of social forces, latent in all countries, and called into play under certain circumstances, have been proved wrong. Even the German opposition to Hitler was wrong about this. In the early days of Hitler's movement, the German democrats laughed it to scorn with the slogan, "Germans are not Italians."

THE NAZI UNITY

But apart from the theoretical merits of arguments pro and con the German people, what are the actual facts about the unity of all the Germans in this war? Is the Nazi structure really so deeply intrenched and monolithic as the Nazis themselves claim?

Apparently the farther off one is the more imposing seems the unity. Those correspondents closer to Germany report serious rifts. That has been true of most American correspondents who reported from Germany up to the time we entered the war—Louis Lochner and Howard Smith are notable examples. Now reports of rifts are coming from Berne and Stockholm.

In analyzing the reports which have come in during the last two weeks, we must differentiate between two sets of symptoms of disintegration which are usually lumped together.

The one set of symptoms are of war weariness, physical misery of no political genesis, disorganization caused by air bombardments, and general malaise to be expected in any country that has endured four years of so hard a war. These symptoms are important, but they do not threaten the Nazi regime, as such.

But beside this we have new evidence of ideological and political opposition rising in Germany.

On the German radio last week, Gauleiter Sauckel, who is commissioner of manpower, made a heavy attack against the German "intellectuals," who, as he put it, were once under Jewish influence and have not changed even after the extinction of the Jews. This is Nazi talk for internationally minded, pacifistic and democratically inclined people. He spoke of "tens of thousands" of them. He exonerated those "scientists, physicians and chemists who are working for the war effort regardless of their ideas," but attacked all the others for their "objectivity" toward the enemy, for constantly discovering "a good word to be spoken for the other side," and "spreading news and rumors against the Nazis."

And for months Goebbels has been conducting an energetic propaganda campaign against the same "objectivity."

Word has also gotten out regarding the attitude of the German churches. Through religious channels we learn that the German churches are already planning methods of co-operation with religious forces in other countries to build a lasting peace after the war. It is revealed that the church has never ceased its protests against the persecution of the Jews and the degradation of the law courts by the Nazis.

The church also claims to have protected large parts of the youth against intoxication by Nazi ideology. And this is borne out by a report by Drew Middleton from North Africa, who says that Hitler is not the idol of the younger German soldiers.

Furthermore the execution of young people by the Gestapo in Germany is on the increase, according to reports reaching us from various nearby neutral sources. This growing revulsion of precisely that generation which the democracies have held to be totally lost, is so interesting that it needs some further analysis.

"CONFERENCE ADJOURNED"

Walter John Speak

(A Tribute by "Mid-Off")

Recently there passed away in this city Mr. Walter John Speak, a native of Nottinghamshire, England, and a resident of Victoria for more than thirty years.

The passing of Mr. Speak may not have been noticed generally, in view of the more serious matters that are facing humanity today, but nevertheless many of us who participated in cricket for many years before the last war, as well as the public who turned out in large numbers to witness the games played in those days will well remember this whole-hearted cricket enthusiast—W. J. Speak. He was well loved by all of us. There existed nothing in his make-up but that which displayed the true sportsman and gentleman. In every respect he was "Cricket"—playing the game in everything for the game's sake.

"W.J.S." learned his cricket in one of the finest counties where the game is played, and actually took part in matches of the Nottingham eleven before coming out to this Dominion and continuing his cricket in this city. He was a tower of strength to inter-city sides, being a bowler of the finest calibre, which will be well remembered by Victorians as well as those on the Mainland. His kindly smile and encouragement to those who participated in the game, in those well-remembered days, will never be forgotten. As a gesture to this stout-hearted fellow it has been noticed that George Austin, H. A. Goward, E. D. Freeman, Hubert Lethaby, James Loudon and P. C. Payne, all who played with Mr. Speak before the war of 1914-18—acted as pall-bearers at his funeral, and it must have been with great respect, but with sad hearts, that they placed him to rest at Colwood Cemetery.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for heights serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill at the Esquimalt Drydock at any tide, add in feet to the height of that water as above given.

MISSING WORDS

Sir,—May some one of your readers be able to supply the missing words and author's name of the following:

"Came there a bird each thousandth year
One sand-grain from . . .
When all had vanished grain by grain
Eternity would still remain.
Mark well, O man, Eternity!"

A TEMPERANCE LEADER

Sir,—Having just heard from one of the outstanding men in the temperance movement in England, I am sure many people in Victoria would appreciate the news. The man referred to is Mr. Guy Hayler, of London, England, who is in his ninety-third year and is still head of the World's Prohibition Federation movement. He is still active and holds office as honorary editor and president and has been in the movement all his life, and I for many years worked under him, being a worthy chief templar chaplain for many years. He has taken a keen interest in our work here and though like my friend I am getting old—I am now in my eighty-second year—I feel those interested in the temperance movement appreciate news from England.

Mr. Guy Hayler has traveled the seven seas for the temperance movement and has written many wonderful things regarding the work accomplished. Now he is coming to the end of a long and worthy life, he claims he owes his good health and longevity to the fact that he has been a life abstainer. Others will soon have to carry on the work he is still doing, but what better cause merits the best efforts of all good people than the temperance work?

FOR VETERANS

Sir,—By direction of the executive of Unit No. 12, Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, I am to write and thank you for the interest you are taking in the matter of hospitalization for the veterans of Lower Vancouver Island, as manifested in recent news items and editorials.

Fair treatment has never been extended to either disabled veterans or their families on Lower Vancouver Island by the Department of Pensions and National Health, inasmuch that it is not only very inconvenient for veterans to be continually proceeding to the Mainland, but in many cases their families are not able to visit them, and even now when the matter has been fairly laid before them the authorities are apparently only slightly interested and casual in their attitude.

We hope you will keep up this fight and use your powerful influence on behalf of veterans and their families.

J. C. RIVERS,
Secretary,
Victoria Unit No. 12, Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, Inc., 1001 Wharf Street, Victoria, B.C.

"I am firmly convinced there is not a good German alive," said a veteran of two wars who arrived home this week after bringing to Canada a batch of Rommel's famous Afrika Korps captured in desert warfare. "Canadians with three or more years' service to their credit are given an opportunity to bring prisoners to Canada and then spend twenty-eight days' leave at their home towns," he explained. "I found that 60 per cent of Rommel's men were cringing youths from five feet to five feet six inches tall, between sixteen and eighteen years of age. One aged sixteen years told me he had been in the army two years. All of them were hungry and thin, presumably because the final push did not give them much time to eat. Despite their deficiencies, they were thoroughly trained in every branch of desert warfare and adequately supplied with arms and ammunition. It is the same as in the last war; when a German is defeated, he goes to pieces. As I said before, most of the prisoners were absolutely cowed. They had been led to believe by their officers that they would be shot if taken in battle. Aboard the prison ship a guard was placing a new clip in his rifle which accidentally discharged. At the sound of the shot, several hundred Nazis fell on their faces and stayed there until an officer told them they would not be harmed. After two days at sea many of the Germans who had not tasted white bread for years commenced to complain about the food, which was the best they probably had ever eaten. They presented their complaints through their officers who although prisoners like the common soldiers tried to adopt the attitude of petty Fuehrers. On the whole, the Nazis seemed happy to realize they were out of the war for the duration with their skins saved. It was amazing how much the English did for Canadians in the British Isles. Their hospitality was unsurpassed. It is too bad Canada does not adopt the English pub system. Pubs promote sociability and definitely curtail excessive drinking."

Victoria Greets Royal Visitor—The warship Kirishima brought Prince Arthur of Connaught to Victoria yesterday morning. His Royal Highness was accorded a warm reception on his debarkation and at the Parliament Buildings. The landing of the Royal party took place at 11:30 a.m., the marine band on board the warship playing appropriate airs as Prince Arthur, accompanied by his staff, transferred to the naval patrol boat Malaspina, which had gone around from Esquimalt to carry the distinguished visitor to town.

School Board Meeting—There was a full attendance of members at the special meeting of the Public School Board held last night, presided over by Chairman Hayward. The object of the meeting was the proposed new graded schools, one of which will be in the North Ward and the other in the South. There were twenty-three sets of plans on exhibition, many of which were novel in design and showed many innovations. The ten most acceptable were picked out, to be decided upon in a few days.

Coronation Day—Today being appointed for the celebration of Queen Victoria's coronation, all the vessels of war in Esquimalt Harbor will dress ship at 8 a.m., and fire a Royal salute of twenty guns at 12 noon. The reign of Victoria is adding up its years of riperness; she ascended the throne in June, 1837. Flags were flying all day yesterday in respect of the day, and all Government offices were closed on Saturday.

Gun-Studded Fortress Crux of New Gaspe Defensive System

Reporter Tells Experiences When Fairmiles Tore Into Action After Mock Alarm Sounded

Somewhere along the rock-bound Gaspe coastline is a place they call the "Little Gibraltar," a well-defended fortress that acts as the nerve centre for the new civilian-service set-up organized to protect the vast peninsula. A Canadian Press reporter touring the Gaspe region visited the centre, watched its defenders at work and flew with its airmen in a Catalina bomber responding to a "mock" alarm. This story tells of his visit.

By JACK KRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ST. LAWRENCE PORT, June 24 (CP).—Crux of the new Gaspe defensive system is this gun-studded fortress where the power and weight of the new civilian-service organization—dubbed "Les Guetteurs"—is dovetailed into a single effort.

The striking power is chiefly amphibious but the "Little Gibraltar" also packs a sting from shore batteries and other devices which were not on display to touring newsmen accompanying Brig. Edmond Blais, officer commanding the Quebec Military District, on an inspection of the big defence system.

It is here that the report of the Aircraft Detection Corps observer is plotted to its proper channel, that reports from sea and air patrols are studied and dealt with. This is the nerve centre of other devices used in the big job of policing the important sea lanes. And it is here, too, that the Royal Canadian Mounted and Provincial Police launch their efforts against suspected saboteurs or subversive elements.

NEWSMEN RESPOND TO MOCK ALARM

The other day newsmen climbed into a big Catalina long-range reconnaissance bomber and responded to a mock alarm.

They swept and swooped over a wide expanse of sea and marveled how youths like Flt. Lt. George Hurd, Winnipeg; F.O. Pete Halloway, Edmonton; F.O. Hugh Miller, Champion, Alta., and Cpl. Mickey McGuire, New Westminster, B.C., could be sure that foam-lashed rock wasn't the half-submerged conning tower of a prowling U-boat.

At a nearby naval jetty a couple of reporters got a taste of the "silent service" in action.

Invited on board for an inspection of a streamlined anti-submarine Fairmile, they got no further than a few introductory remarks with the young skipper when his flotilla was ordered to sea. A suspicious craft had been sighted. In five minutes the school of speedy Fairmiles were churning, line astern, to the area of the report.

Packed with depth charges, these little trouble-shooters can do a complete job of any unwary U-boat that gets reasonably near their area of operation.

Ashore, the newsmen visited the map and chart-laden headquarters of Flt. Lt. H. N. Bouchard, of Hull, Que., responsible for the detection organization of the whole St. Lawrence area. Brig. Blais said that Bouchard's work and that of Lt.-Col. Joseph Pineault, who organized the keen vigilante army reserve detachments in all the fishing villages, "has been a revelation to me." This work is being synchronized with great efficiency.

The two organizations work in especially close co-operation. Bouchard's 3,000-odd A.B.C. volunteers flood the clearing centres with reports of unidentified air and sea craft while the more than 2,000 reservists of Col. Pineault—an officer in the Winnipeg "Little Black Devils" of the first Great War—patrol the shore line, chiefly to prevent the landing of saboteurs.

At a joint press conference of immediate service commanders—Cmdr. Barrie German, Ottawa, navy; Lt.-Col. J. White, Bathurst, N.B., army, and Group Capt. H. G. Orr, Calgary, air force—it was stressed that the efforts of all services are happily co-ordinated in the job at hand.

British Submarines Destroy Thirteen Mediterranean Ships

LONDON, June 24 (CP).—British submarines operating in the Mediterranean have sunk an armed Axis merchant ship of 1,000 tons and destroyed two auxiliary vessels, two medium-sized supply ships and eight small supply ships, the Admiralty announced today.

In addition, three large tankers, two large supply ships and a small tanker were damaged by torpedo hits and a patrol of two Italian destroyers was engaged by a submarine. Results of the engagements were not ascertained.

A radio location station on Alina [illegible] repeatedly hit in a bombardment by another submarine, the Admiralty said.

"These successes have taken place over a wide area and include attacks made off the French Riviera, Sicily, in the Adriatic and the Eastern Aegean," its communique reported.

Boeing Agrees With Union on Smoking Times

VANCOUVER, June 24 (CP).—Concluding nine months of negotiating, a proposed revision of the agreement between the Aeronautical Mechanics Lodge 756 (A.F.L.) and Boeing Aircraft of Canada, Ltd., has been sent to the Department of Munitions and Supply for approval, Union Business Agent Tom Price said today.

Union and management reached agreement on all but three points—holidays with pay, closed shop and adjustments in the wage rates of the various classifications, Price said.

These three major points, he added, would have to be settled by the Munitions Department.

More than fourteen points in the agreement were mutually approved by labor and management, Price said, and are now in operation.

These include labor-management production committees, safety committees, smoking periods, and granting the union's business agent right of access to the plants at all times.

Salmon Pack Less Than Half That of Same Week in 1942

VANCOUVER, June 24 (CP).—The salmon pack in British Columbia for the week ending June 19 totaled 3,422½ cases, a decline when compared with the pack at a similar date in previous years, the chief supervisor of fisheries reported today in the first bulletin of the 1943 season. Last year the pack at this date was 7,728 cases and the year before 17,830 cases.

Reports so far are confined to District No. 1 with bluebacks providing the principal pack of 3,321½ cases. The larger total in 1941 was due in part to fishing in District No. 3.

R.C.A.F. Casualties

OTTAWA, June 24 (CP). — The R.C.A.F., in its 610th casualty list of the war, containing twenty-seven names, tonight gave the names of ten men killed on active service overseas and of nine men killed on active service in Canada.

Four men were listed as missing on active service after air operations overseas.

The Canada section of the list also included one man who has died from natural causes; one who has died of injuries suffered on active service; one drowned accidentally, and one dangerously injured on active service.

Following is the list:

Three Are Killed In Quebec Crash

ST. ADOLPHE DE HOWARD, Que., June 24 (CP).—Three men were killed today when a Lockheed Hudson plane of the Royal Air Force Transport Command crashed near this Laurentian Mountain resort fifty miles north of Montreal.

The plane burst into flames after hitting a tree top and crashed near a lake. Witnesses said that before the plane hit the tree the pilot appeared to be looking for a place to land.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., June 24 (CP). — A student pilot from No. 14 Service Flying Training School at Aylmer, Ont., was killed today when the plane he was flying crashed in a field near Corinth, ten miles from its base.

Admiral Thinks Ships Still Are Too Expensive

LOS ANGELES, June 24 (CP).—"We've finally learned how to build ships, but the cost is much too high, both in man hours and in money," declared Rear Admiral Howard L. Vickery, vice-chairman of the United States Maritime Commission.

"Both must come down," he added during an inspection tour of shipyards at Los Angeles Harbor.

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with Itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from Modern Pharmacy or Cunningham Drug Store, or any druggist, and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, is a small, easy to take tablet. Will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore, tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended, and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money. (Advt.)

Russian Flyer

The first pilot to fly a plane to Ottawa from Moscow, Captain F. L. Ponomarenko, Red Air Force, wears the Order of Lenin and the Order of the Red Star for his exploits at Sebastopol and Stalingrad. Flying via Siberia and Alaska he brought a Soviet purchasing commission to Canada to confer with the Canadian Government on the transfer of Canadian supplies to the Soviets.

Torpedomen on Destroyer Have Company of Frisky Female

ABOARD H.M.C.S. IROQUOIS, June 24 (CP). — A female of doubtful repute is travelling aboard this new tribal class destroyer.

Her name is Flo-Scapa Flo in full—a white cat.

Her official name, for the purpose of naval records, is "Ordinary Wren Flo, candidate for leading torpedo-ma'am." It was given her by kindly torpedomen, who adopted her as their special charge and rigged up a tiny hammock in which she could sleep.

Rating Frank Gleason, of Calgary, says: "She doesn't really come to life until we leave port. Then she gets really frisky and we can't keep her below decks at all. [illegible] her own hammock."

Keeping Flo company on the decks of the Iroquois is a dog named "Ordinary Seaman Bill." But he is strictly a stowaway.

Ordinary Seaman Bill strolled over the gangplank when the Iroquois visited Canada, pausing only long enough to give the customary salute on the quarterdeck. He has been adopted by the petty officers' mess.

Plane Crash Wrecks Train

SOUTHVILLE, Mass., June 24 (CP). —Two United States Army planes collided and burst into flames at a high altitude today and one of them crashed directly in front of a six-coach passenger train, bound from Worcester to Boston, derailing the engine and five of the coaches.

One pilot parachuted to safety and the other was believed to have perished in his burning ship. None of the approximately 150 train passengers was injured, railroad officials said, but the engineer suffered a slight cut.

The Boston-bound express train passed by the Rocklawn station shortly before the flaming plane came plummeting down in the railroad right-of-way. Two coaches were set afire, forcing the passengers to leave the train hurriedly.

Firemen were summoned from nearby towns and first reports were that exploding machine-gun bullets hampered their work. No trace could be found of the missing pilot.

F.O. and Mrs. T. A. Piddington will take up residence at 1318 Hampshire Road, this week-end.

Mrs. T. H. Burns, Hampshire Road, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Colin Stewart, in Kamloops.

Mrs. W. B. Johnston has returned to Victoria following a holiday spent at Pender Island.

Mrs. J. J. Anderson is en route to the Pacific Coast from Edmonton to spend the Summer months.

Mrs. Charles F. Corbett, of Victoria, is a guest at Hotel Georgia, Vancouver, for several days.

Lieut. and Mrs. Gordon D. Campbell, of Halifax, are en route to Victoria to spend a holiday with their families residing there.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Fyfe Winch, of Vancouver, were visitors in Victoria yesterday, returning to the Mainland in the afternoon.

Miss P. Healey, of this city, is spending her annual vacation as the guest of Mrs. A. Page and her daughter, Miss Eileen Page, Duncan.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Pearson have returned to their home in Winnipeg after a holiday spent here and in Vancouver.

Miss Joan Hume, accompanied by Miss May Harris, of Victoria, has arrived at her home on Galiano Island to spend the Summer months.

Mrs. E. M. Talbot, Victoria, formerly of Duncan, is the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Soule, Duncan, and will return to Victoria at the end of the week.

Mrs. James Wade-Golby has just returned from spending two months with her husband, Lieut. James W. Golby, D.S.C., in the East. Mrs. Golby attended the christening of the ship of which her husband is first officer.

In honor of Mrs. H. McColl, of Winnipeg, who is leaving shortly to make her home in this city, Mrs. M. D. Gant, and Mrs. R. Keltar entertained at tea at Mrs. Gant's home, Polson Avenue, Winnipeg, recently when a presentation was made to the guest of honor.

Mrs. C. J. Barrett, who has been spending the Winter months in Victoria and Vancouver, has arrived on the East Coast and will spend the Summer with her son and daughter-in-law, Lieut.-Commander and Mrs. R. D. Barrett, Commodore Apartments, Halifax.

The pupils of Prospect Lake School presented Mrs. Harrison (nee Hall), Division II teacher for the past three years, with a wedding gift of silver. In a charming little ceremony Norma Van Dyke made the brief speech, Jimmie Henderson presented the gift and Donna Gudmondson the old-fashioned nosegay of ferns and rosebuds.

Mrs. E. R. Mainguy, with her three children, is spending the Summer months in Kelowna, B.C. In September, Mrs. Mainguy accompanied by her young daughter will leave for Ottawa where her husband, Capt. Mainguy, O.B.E., R.C.N., is stationed. Her sons, Dan and Christopher, will return to their respective schools on the Island.

Mrs. P. B. Scurrah was signally honored when she attended the annual convention of Oregon State Chapter, P.E.O. Sisterhood, recently held in Portland, Ore. Mrs. Scurrah, who represented the international body at the convention, was presented with a life membership in the Mystical Order of the Rose by Women's Advertising Club of Portland. At the time of the presentation she was also the recipient of a beautiful bouquet of Portland's lovely roses.

Guests at the recent Jones-Readings wedding held at Sidney included: Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Jones, Mr. Reg Jones, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Blackburn, Mr. and Mrs. G. Griffin and John, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Knight, all from Victoria.

On Wednesday afternoon Miss Dorothy Lassen, Bowker Avenue, was hostess at the tea hour at the Empress Hotel in compliment to Miss Beverly McBeath, who is to be married shortly. A bowl of dainty Iceland poppies centred the prettily arranged table. During the afternoon Miss Lassen presented the honoree with a hand-painted dish, accompanied by a corsage bouquet of rosebuds and violas. And on behalf of Safeway Store No. 87, Miss McBeath was presented with a silver cocktail shaker. The guests were Mrs. Fitzgerald, Mrs. V. Wallace, Mrs. K. Clark, Miss Shirley Turner, Miss Anne Hill and Miss Jean Taylor.

A delightful tea honoring Miss Violet Day, who is to be married next month, was given recently by Miss Maryllia Carr at her home, 1827 St. Ann Street. On her arrival the honoree was presented with a corsage bouquet of mauve stocks and white stephanotis. Miss Lynne Pitkethley presided at the prettily arranged tea table for which mauve sweet peas in a low bowl, flanked by tall mauve tapers, formed a charming centrepiece. Miss Jean Scott assisted the hostess in serving. The invited guests were Mrs. N. C. Carr, Mrs. I. Catterall, Mrs. E. S. Booth and Misses Catherine Thomas, Mabel Cameron, Ivy Bradley, Ella George, Lynne Pitkethley, Gertrude Day and Jean Scott.

Miss Hilda Guy, who will be married next month, was the recipient of two handsome pieces of Moorcroft pottery which were presented to her recently on behalf of the Monteith Club of Victoria West United Church by the president, Miss Anne Emery. An enjoyable social evening was held by the members at the home of Mrs. Gordon Mitchell, 623 Raynor Street, following their regular meeting. Corsage bouquets of pink carnations and mauve sweet peas were received by Miss Guy and her mother, the former's being presented by Mrs. Mitchell, and Mrs. Guy's by Mrs. Mawer. Guessing contests were played and refreshments were served at the close of the evening. The table, covered with a lace cloth, was centred with a crystal bowl of varicolored Iceland poppies and campanulae reflected in a mirror, and lighted by yellow candles in silver holders. Mrs. Guy and Miss Emery presided at the urns.

Honors for Brides-Elect

A miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Blanche Joyce, a bride-elect, was given on Wednesday evening by Mrs. L. Holman, 1090 Lockley Road. The rooms were attractively arranged with snapdragons, and as they entered the guest of honor and her mother were presented with corsage bouquets: Vinas and sweetheart roses for Miss Joyce, while Mrs. Joyce received pink carnations and cornflowers. The many pretty gifts were concealed in a box prettily decorated and surmounted by a miniature bridal couple, pink and white streamers from the corners of the room being attached to the container. Mrs. K. W. Kains and Miss M. Stephenson were the winners of the games played following which a buffet supper was served. The lace-covered table was centred with a bowl of pink snapdragons flanked by lighted pink tapers in silver holders. The guests were: Mrs. D. Joyce, Mrs. J. Waggett, Mrs. J. W. Kains, Mrs. W. B. Charters, Mrs. Archbold, Sr., Mrs. K. W. Charters, Mrs. Archbold, Jr., Mrs. I. Bowden, Mrs. K. McFarlane, Mrs. K. W. Kains, Mrs. C. Britenbach, Mrs. J. Stockard, Mrs. S. Charters, Mrs. H. Holman and Misses Mary Stephenson, Cecily Charters, E. Burrows and J. Foster.

Mrs. E. Davy and Mrs. R. Randall entertained at the home of Mrs. Jack Puckey, 1523 Amphion Street, on Wednesday evening at a linen shower in honor of Miss Dorothy McIlwaine. On her arrival the bride-elect, her mother, Mrs. C. McIlwaine, and the groom's mother, Mrs. G. Gaetz were each presented with corsage bouquets. Gifts for the honoree were contained in a grey model airplane, with red, white and blue decorations. Refreshments were served buffet style from a table covered with a lace cloth, and centred with a crystal bowl containing roses, flanked by tall green tapers. Pinks, sweet William and pansies were effectively used in the decorative scheme of the rooms. Games were played, and winners were Mrs. W. Frost and Mrs. C. Yarwood. Guests included Mrs. William McIlwaine, Mrs. W. Neil, Mrs. J. A. Anderson, Mrs. E. Wood, Mrs. G. Stevens, Mrs. William Miles, Mrs. A. Hargreaves, Mrs. D. W. Alderson, Misses June Smiley, Margaret Hallett, Pat Anderson, Jennie Smart, Betty Buxton, Thyra Gaetz.

A miscellaneous shower was held Wednesday evening by Mrs. C. Sanderson, 1018 Redfern Street, in honor of Miss Doria Lorne, 164 Beechwood Avenue. On her arrival the guest of honor was presented with a corsage bouquet of Talisman rosebuds, also the bridesmaid, Miss Dorothy Butler. Mrs. Sanderson was also given a corsage bouquet of red, white and blue flowers. The numerous nice and useful gifts were concealed in a decorated white and gold pirate treasure chest. Supper was served from a table prettily decorated with pink and white carnations and rosebuds, with pink candles in silver holders at each end, and centred with a large mirror, holding dainty swans. The tablecloth was of fine filet lace, and presiding at the urns were Mrs. I. Culross and Mrs. C. Sanderson. Guests were: Miss Doria Lorne, Miss M. Lorne, Miss Ann Lorne, Miss Dorothy Butler, Miss Isobel Butler, Mrs. Purdy, Mrs. M. Bennett, Mrs. M. Rice, Mrs. E. Swanson, Mrs. White, Mrs. M. Barber, Mrs. M. McKeachie, Mrs. J. Dawson, Mrs. J. Hibberson, Mrs. I. Culross, Mrs. F. Jeffrey, Mrs. W. McIndoe, Mrs. D. Moore, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. A. Jones.

By A. L. PRIPPS

Once again the roses made by the little inmates of the Children's Crippleage at Hairesbury, Sussex, have been safely brought through submarine-infested waters, to be sold on the streets of Victoria to help underprivileged children in this farthest outpost of the Empire.

Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., is in charge of the sale of roses. Mrs. W. Ellis is convener, assisted by the Municipal officers and conveners appointed by primary chapters.

Despite the many demands which the war has brought to all citizens, the I.O.D.E. continues the vital work of helping underprivileged, undernourished and crippled children. The war has brought Canada face to face with the importance of having healthy and vigorous citizens in the future. Children of today will carry the torch of freedom which the United Nations' armies are following at this moment.

Many years ago Rose Day was organized by Queen Alexandra and on her death it was continued in her memory by her daughter, Princess Victoria Louise, for the sick and suffering, in whom Queen Alexandra always took such a deep and sympathetic interest.

Money raised from the Alexandra Rose Day is divided into child and family welfare work, providing milk and hospitalization for undernourished children, providing layettes for needy mothers or for use in helping any needy family, especially that of a veteran or serviceman; aiding Queen Alexandra Solarium—in addition to the endowed cot which the I.O.D.E. already maintains—and 2½ per cent of the gross proceeds goes to the Children's Crippleage in England, so that purchases of tomorrow's tags will be helping the children of Britain as well as of Victoria.

Engagements

Announcements to appear under this heading will be accepted at The Colonist Advertising Department. Minimum charge $1.50 for 10 lines, and 15c for each additional line.

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Wilson, 1837 Crescent Road, wish to announce the engagement of their only daughter, Lorna Patricia, to Robert Edward Pollok, R.C.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Pollok, Haney, B.C. The wedding will take place on July 16, at Metropolitan United Church, at 8:30 p.m.

Returns After Winning Commission Overseas

A.S.O. KYTHE MACKENZIE, R.C.A.F. (W.D.)

WHO returned to Victoria yesterday from Great Britain, where, as fighter control units on operational centres, she completed her training as clerk operations room, and won her commission. She is a member of the first group of airwomen accepted for training in this trade and will now, as an instructor or worker, be on duty at operational centres of the R.C.A.F. in Canada. A.S.O. Mackenzie left last night for Cowichan Bay, where she will spend a week with her mother, who came to Canada "for the duration." While overseas, A.S.O. Mackenzie visited her father, Mr. C. R. Mackenzie, at their home at Inverness, Scotland. A.S.O. Mackenzie is most enthusiastic concerning her work: "It is the most interesting work, for you are dealing with people all the time. There's nothing like it," she said sincerely. "I would not want to be doing anything else!"

Daughter of Pioneer Family Wins Art Award

Miss Madeleine Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tate MacEwen Robertson, Philadelphia, has won the Lewis S. Ware European Traveling Fellowship award at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Philadelphia, for painting. This award is given for meritorious work and outstanding character. It carries with it a $1,100 cash prize. She also won a Topham award of $150.

Miss Robertson last year won the William Emlen Cresson Memorial Traveling Scholarship award of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, and visited Vancouver and Victoria en route to California and Mexico, from where she brought back paintings of interest during her travels.

Miss Robertson was born in Vancouver, is a niece of Hon. Mr. Justice Harold B. Robertson, of British Columbia, and Dr. Hermann M. Robertson, of Victoria, and a granddaughter of the late Hon. Mr. Justice and Mrs. A. Rocke Robertson, of Victoria. She spent part of her childhood in Victoria before leaving with her parents for the East.

ISLAND ARTS AND CRAFTS

Owing to rainy weather, the club was unable to meet for sketching as arranged. On Monday, June 28, it will meet at the corner of Rockland Avenue and Moss Street at 2 p.m.

Programme Committee Holds Meeting

The programme committee of the Victoria Musical Art Society met on Wednesday evening at the home of the president, Mrs. William Ellis, Beach Drive. Plans for the season 1942-44 were discussed and the society hopes to present several outstanding artists.

In accordance with the policy of the Musical Art Society, which is to encourage and further the growth of young artists, talented students of Victoria will also be presented on some of the programmes.

Prize Giving Held at St. Margaret's School

A large gathering of parents and friends of St. Margaret's School attended the annual prize-giving held last night in the gymnasium of the school. Mr. F. E. Winslow, chairman of the board of directors, conducted the proceedings and the various ribbons and awards were presented by Rev. Michael Coleman. Also seated on the platform were the principal, Miss H. M. Pearce; the vice-principal, Mrs. E. Godson; Mrs. [illegible] and Mrs. H. R. Townshend, president of the Old Girls' Association.

In his opening remarks Mr. Winslow paid tribute to Miss Pearce on behalf of the board of governors for the efficient manner in which she had conducted the school during the past year, "which," he said, "had not been an easy task with the limited number of teachers available."

Miss Pearce in giving a resume of the year's work mentioned as one of the highlights, the success that came to a former student, Joyce Harman, now attending Victoria College, who this year was awarded the Quita Nichol Scholarship for French. Last year's matriculation class had been 100 per cent successful, showing a high level of scholastic attainment. Miss Pearce added that nearly all the members of the class were engaged in war work of some sort. This year thirteen girls were taking the complete matriculation course and nine the partial.

UNCEASING WAR EFFORT

The principal spoke of the unceasing war effort of the school, saying that no matter how young the children were they all took part. In particular was mentioned the Junior Red Cross groups work with the Salvage Corps on Saturday mornings and the practices in first aid. Many of the pupils she said were joining the Girls' Land Army during the holidays. Miss Pearce revealed that the sum of $200 was given to the Greater Victoria War Nurseries Fund; part of the amount to aid the school war nursery at Liverpool. The sum of $18 had been donated to the Milk for Britain Fund.

Other activities reported were the sports day, the dress parade given by the home economics class held in conjunction with a musical recital, the successful gymnastic display and the old girls' reunion. In closing Miss Pearce addressed the graduating class of 1943. She said "we envy you the challenge life is presenting to you—we, your teachers, know 'you have healthy minds in healthy bodies.'" She spoke of the great task of reconstruction which lies ahead. She felt the ideals of the school: the loyalty, discipline, sportsmanship and "straight thinking" would stand them in good stead. "We will watch your careers with keen interest and affection" she concluded.

Miss Pearce then introduced Sheila Francis who gave as a valedictory address her paper, "The Greatness of Our Inheritance" which she had delivered at the youth rally held in Victoria recently.

RELIGION AND HISTORY

Rev. Mr. Coleman before presenting the awards talked to the children "as though their parents were not there." He spoke of the history of Britain; the different strains of peoples in her make-up and the tremendous background of history which has played such a part in the character building of the nation. Mr. Coleman's former church, All Hallows, London, so steeped in history, was used as the foundation of his talk. "Religion and history are the only real things in life," he said as he urged the pupils to practise Christian brotherhood, Godliness, and loyalty to their homes. In conclusion Mr. Coleman spoke of the new spirit in Britain born of the burning and desolation of the blitz and of the new idea of the British Commonwealth of Nations which has superceded the old ideas of Empire.

SPECIAL AWARDS

The Robertson Salver, presented each year to the girl making the greatest contribution to school life and scholastic attainment, was won equally this year by Sheila Francis and Enid Wallace. The Margaret Barton Scholarship, presented by the Old Girls' Association in appreciation of the former headmistress, Miss Margaret Barton, was awarded to Miss Margaret Dayton. Mrs. H. R. Townshend, president of the association, making the presentation. The Margaret Barton Scholastic Cup was won by Turgot House.

Matriculation prizes were received by Gwen Shaw, general proficiency; Marcia Dornan, science; Mary-Lou Allen, poetry appreciation; Pamela Greenhill, applied art, and Pat Sprot, history. Leaving certificates were granted to Mary Lou-Allen, Robin Baugh Allen, Joyce Clearihue, Patsy Beard, Betsy Cook, Barbara Corfield, Betty Denniston, Sheila Francis, Elizabeth Holmes, Mary Hummel, Cynthia Reid, Pat Sprot, Gwen Shaw and Enid Wallace.

China's First Lady Evidences Simple Taste in Eating

Madam Chiang Kai-Shek, beloved wife of China's great war leader, who has firmly cemented the deep bonds of friendship between China and Canada through her recent visit to the Dominion, is a woman of simple and plain eating habits for whom "it is a pleasure to cook," says Percy Alderman, stellar Canadian National Railways' chef, who prepared Madam's meals during her recent trip from New York, through Canada to Ottawa and back to the United States.

Madam Chiang is a dainty eater, Chef Alderman says, and "knows good food and appreciates good cooking." The Canadian National chef found that China's first lady prefers either steak (when obtainable) or chicken as her main course and

Not Taught at Finishing School

While the art of mayhem is not part of the curriculum at peacetime finishing schools, the United States girl marines in training at Camp Lejeune, New River, N.C., find it a necessary part of their education. The two lady marines here are demonstrating how they go about disabling an opponent. No holds are barred and everything goes.

"believe it or not," gets just about as much enjoyment out of a good cup of coffee as she does from a cup of her own special tea. Madam Chiang brought her own tea along with her on her special Canadian National Railways car which served as her "home on wheels" during the Canadian trip and it was brewed for her by Chef Alderman. She had coffee for breakfast and coffee for dinner, drinking tea only in the afternoon.

In preparing the menu for one dinner, Chef Alderman was at a loss to know Madam's preferences. Finally, he submitted a tentative menu in which he had tactfully included rice in two forms. The menu was immediately approved as it included steak, and Alderman had been "tipped off" in advance that Madam had a fondness for good steak and chicken sandwiches. Madam's dinner menu was: Grapefruit Canadian National; relishes; rice-chicken soup; "medium" steak and mushrooms; green buttered asparagus, carrots a la C.N.R.; rice oriental; cantaloupe, Canadian cheese and coffee.

Famous Recordings Enjoyed by Teachers

Miss Alexandra McGavin and Miss Barbara Blackstone were hostesses last evening at their home on Cookman Street, Oak Bay, to the members and friends of the Victoria Music Teachers' Association, when a delightful programme of recorded music and games and contests were enjoyed. About forty guests attended, among them being Mrs. Marion MacGovern, president of the teachers association and Mrs. C. S. Beals, president of the Victoria chapter of the Toronto Conservatory of Music Alumni Association.

Highlighting the programme was a performance of the Beethoven "Emperor" piano concerto, with Benno Moiseivitch as soloist, and another favorite was the Mozart G Minor Symphony. Other recordings included two by the British pianist, Myra Hess, and a group of vocal numbers by Marian Anderson, John Charles Thomas, Ezio Pinza and Elizabeth Reinberg. Musical caricatures played by the blind English pianist, Alec Templeton, closed the programme.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, the buffet supper table being centred with a bowl of pink rhododendrons and nepeta, complemented by pink tapers. Miss Gwendoline Harper and Miss Cecile Townsend assisted in serving.

Weddings

JONES—READINGS

At the home of the bride's parents, McTavish Road, Sidney, on Saturday evening, June 19, Rev. Percy Wills officiated at the marriage between Edith Victoria Alice, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Readings, and Bandsman Albert Thomas E. Jones, R.C.A.S.C., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Jones, Cambridge Street, Vancouver. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess gown of white satin and lace and an embroidered veil falling from a halo with real orange blossom. She carried a shower bouquet of pale pink roses and carnations, her only ornament being a cameo locket, which had belonged to her grandmother, Mrs. George Bone was matron of honor, in a heavenly blue chiffon frock and matching shoulder veil, who carried deep pink carnations and snapdragons in a paler shade, and little Betty Bone was flower girl in a rose taffeta frock and a blue poke bonnet, with a posy of pink and blue flowers. L.-Cpl. J. W. Blackburn, R.C.A., was groomsman. Mrs. R. Cox played the wedding music, and hymns were sung during the ceremony, which took place beneath the cedars in the garden, hung with roses and orange blossom. Parents of the couple welcomed the guests to the reception. The flower-decked supper table was centred with the cake, a gift from a very dear friend of the family. For a honeymoon on the Mainland the bride donned a brown suit with beige and blue accessories. Bandsman and Mrs. Jones will reside at 258 Burnside Road, Victoria.

CHRISTIE—BRISTOWE

A profusion of syringa, delphiniums, roses and peonies arranged in the chancel of Holy Trinity Church, Patricia Bay, made a lovely setting for the wedding of Jean, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Bristowe, Deep Cove, and Mr. Thomas Ludlow Christie, youngest son of Major and Mrs. A. E. Christie, 604 Linden Avenue, which was solemnized by Rev. Canon H. St. John Payne at 1 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, June 24. Mrs. H. G. Borth, Sidney, played the wedding music and was also responsible for the floral decorations. Given in marriage by her father, the charming bride wore a two-piece frock of turquoise blue crepe with a lace bodice, and a corsage bouquet of gardenias and Talisman roses. Her wide-brimmed hat was baku straw and accessories were navy blue. The bride was unattended, and Mr. Charles Heuterman was groomsman. Following a small reception at the Chalet, Deep Cove, Mr. and Mrs. Christie left for a honeymoon Up-Island, the bride wearing a beige tailored suit with a navy topcoat and accessories. They will make their home in Victoria.

R.C.A.F. (W.D.), Kildonan House, Receives Guests

Kildonan House was open to a number of interested visitors yesterday afternoon when S.O. I. R. S. Hutchins, R.C.A.F. (W.D.), was hostess and officer on duty, at the spacious airwomen's barracks on Foul Bay Road.

Invited guests included three representatives from the following organizations; Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, Canadian Legion W.A., Parent-Teacher Association, P.E.O. Sisterhood, University Women's Club, Women's Canadian Club, Y.W.C.A., Citizen's War Service Committee, Local Council of Women, Council of Social Agencies. Each airwoman was allowed to invite one guest.

Members of the W.A. to the Air Force assisted in presiding at the tea table, and acting as serviteurs. Mrs. W. Poupore, Mrs. Hobart Molson, Mrs. H. S. Morton and Mrs. N. Beketo poured tea.

Many guests availed themselves of the invitation to inspect Kildonan House, and also the Barrack Block situated to the east of the main building, and were escorted by members of the women's division.

Kildonan House, which has been in use for the Women's Division since last Autumn, has become an efficient as well as a comfortable setting for the airwomen, and the members took pride in pointing out the various gifts of furniture presented to the house from members of the Women's Auxiliary to the Air Force.

Auxiliary Holds Fourth Annual General Meeting

St. Michael's School, Mother's Auxiliary to Old Boys' Association, held its fourth annual general meeting in the school gymnasium yesterday afternoon with a large attendance of members.

Mrs. Harold Nation, who was in the chair, called for a standing vote of sympathy to the memory of Mrs. K. C. Symons and Mrs. A. W. Weaver-Bridgman. In her report she said the auxiliary had sufficient funds in hand to give an annual scholarship of $50, as well as the annual bursary of $50. Names of the boys to whom they have been awarded will be announced on Speech Day, June 30.

Mrs. Alfred Woodcroft, honorary secretary-treasurer, reported that the auxiliary now had a membership of 133 members. Mrs. C. E. Ley, convener of sewing group, reported that 600 articles of clothing had been sent to Britain for bombed-out families, and all parcels had safely reached their destination. Mrs. T. E. Ainscough, treasurer of the group, reported a small balance in hand. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. James Ellis; honorary life president, Mrs. R. C. Treherne; vice-president, Mrs. Harold Nation; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Louis R. Davies.

Graydon Critical

peg North Centre) said trade union organization and collective bargaining should be extended in time of war to ensure efficient production and give working people the understanding that they were doing their own work in production and would produce to the limit of their capacity.

A policy of putting ceiling on wages should not have carried with it the possibility that in some cases the floor would be the ceiling. The minimum wage rates should not be looked on as basic wages.

Mr. Mitchell said labor and wages were a matter of provincial jurisdiction, but as a result of recent National War Labor Board meetings there might be some crystallization of viewpoints on minimum wage laws in the provinces and the ends desired by Mr. Knowles might be achieved.

The provinces had worked out generally satisfactory machinery dealing with minimum wages, and he expressed belief that when the war was over they would demand complete jurisdictional rights be returned.

USED TO RETAIN LOW-PAID EMPLOYEES

Mr. Knowles said there had been a Winnipeg complaint that the Selective Service Office there appeared to be used by some employers paying low wages to help them retain their workers.

National Selective Service was not being used to cut down wages to his knowledge, the minister said.

It was not possible to have public hearings on the establishment of industries as essential or non-essential for purposes of compulsory employment, transfer regulations.

The priority schedule in this respect was held confidential. This schedule changed from day to day and public debate on it could not be held. A plant might switch from one programme to another quickly and if there were public hearings "you would be continually discussing and arguing about priority in the respective war industries in the country."

Mr. Graydon said the Government had failed to make effective use of the national registration conducted in 1940. Many felt that Elliott M. Little, former director of National Selective Service, who resigned last November, had been "too good a planner for what the Government had in mind."

TRIED TO GAIN GREATER EFFICIENCY

He said Mr. Little apparently tried to bring his branch to a point of efficiency and dispatch, and had attempted to see if the Government was prepared to do its utmost in compliance with 1939 undertakings to prosecute the war effort with all vigor.

It appeared the Unemployment Insurance Commission, also a unit of the Labor Department, had been jealous of National Selective Service which was to be superimposed on it.

"When Mr. Little resigned in November and his resignation was accepted, of course the Unemployment Insurance Commission had won the day," said Mr. Graydon.

The Conservative House Leader read the Winnipeg convention resolution advocating unrestricted National Selective Service as representing his party's view of one aspect of the Government's manpower policy.

repeated his charges that the plan for the abandonment of Northern Australia had been put forward during Premier Menzies' period of office, and that a $10,000,000 airdrome was to be built in New South Wales as part of a proposed southern defence line.

Minister of Supply Beasley said the Menzies Government had accepted Chamberlain's policy that dominions might be lost because of their unpreparedness at the outbreak of the war and then won back as Britain's growing strength permitted. But few Australians would have been left if Japan had conquered Australia.

Boswell said Spezia sent up a smoke screen when the docks and shipping were bombed.

"It was difficult to see the results but I'm quite certain there was a big fire in an oil dump," he said, adding: "Thick black smoke rose 10,000 feet."

The planes passed over Sardinia at dawn and landed in North Africa without incident.

F.O. F. Allcroft, a Vancouver pilot, said: "I sure was glad to be on such a swell show."

Labor and agriculture had not been brought into partnership in the war effort as they should have been and had not been given proper recognition in the formation of policy.

Mr. Graydon used official figures to indicate a sharp wartime increase in employment in such civilian occupations as fur making, beverage, manufacturing, laundries and cleaning plants.

Increase Fish For Overseas

Canada Will Ship $1,250,000 Worth

OTTAWA, June 24 (CP).—Fisheries Minister Bertrand announced today that Canada, under arrangements made between the Canadian and British Governments, will supply the United Kingdom with 9,000,000 pounds of frozen fish during 1943—or more than twice as much as was sent from the Dominion in 1942, when no official plan, such as now is to operate, was in effect.

Of the total 1943 shipment, Mr. Bertrand said, about 2,000,000 pounds will consist of Pacific Coast flounders, and the supplies from the Atlantic provinces will include 3,000,000 pounds of cod fillets, 1,000,000 pounds of pollock fillets and 1,000,000 pounds of flounders.

Producers will receive approximately the same prices as are paid for frozen fish by Canadian distributors, and, all told, the purchases will amount to about $1,250,000, the announcement said. The purchase of fish for purposes of the agreement will be carried on by the Dominion Department of Fisheries, acting on behalf of the British Ministry of Food.

So that supplies may be obtained in the necessary quantities, Atlantic Coast producers are being required by the department to reserve prescribed quotas of their outputs for United Kingdom account.

Differences in certain factors as they apply to each coast make such a requirement unnecessary in British Columbia.

Mr. Bertrand said fish purchased under the agreement must be prepared and packed in a specified way, and will be subject to inspection by departmental officers for quality.

Believe Four Airmen Drown

WINNIPEG, June 24 (CP).—Four airmen missing for two days in the Lake Manitoba district, north of here, today were believed to have drowned.

An unofficial report from Oak Point said pieces of wreckage from an airplane had been found in the lake, nine miles west of the town.

Officials at No. 2 Training Command, R.C.A.F., here could not confirm the report, pending word from a search party sent to Oak Point.

The missing party included a Canadian, a New Zealander and two British airmen from No. 1 Central Navigation School at Rivers, Man.

Historical Body to Attend Unveiling Ceremony Sunday

British Columbia Historical Association members will attend the unveiling of a stone erected by the city to the memory of Chief Trader Charles Ross, who was in charge of Fort Victoria in 1843. The ceremony will take place at the old Quadra Street Cemetery, now called Pioneer Square, on Sunday at 2 o'clock.

B. A. McKelvie, president of the British Columbia Historical Association provincial body, will be the chief speaker, and Francis Ross, grandson of Charles Ross, will take part in the ceremony.

INCREASE PLANE PRODUCTION

WASHINGTON, June 24 (CP).—The bomb-harried Axis got more bad news today. Gen. H. H. Arnold, commanding general of the United States Army Air Forces, disclosed that airplane production in the year beginning July 1 is expected to reach 115,000.

City Air Cadets Enjoy Camp Life At Coast Station

See All Phases Of Air Crew Duties

With the closing of the ten-day air cadet camp at a West Coast air station yesterday, forty Victoria boys among the 250 cadets from here, Vancouver, and New Westminster, returned to their homes well qualified to continue air force training.

During their stay, when they were shown nearly all equipment on the station, the boys concentrated on armament, firing rifles and machine guns. They also studied meteorology, learned to pack parachutes, and became acquainted with many other aspects of aircrew duties.

According to the camp messing officer the boys ate as much food as 700 airmen, and were permitted to eat all they desired at every meal. They slept under canvas, performed drills, and generally absorbed air force life. Although they attended moving pictures and church parade with the regular force, they kept to themselves, and maintained their own discipline.

Last Tuesday the boys competed in a track meet for prizes offered by the officers at the station. Major R. H. B. Ker, Dominion director of the Air Cadet League, was in attendance.

Squadron Leader E. G. Symonds, command cadet liaison officer, was in charge, and was relieved by F.O. P. C. Routley. Other officers directing the camp were A.C. Flt. Lt. J. S. White, A.C. Flying Officer Grant Paterson, Victoria, and A.C. Flying Officer A. Y. Faris, of Vancouver.

Can Use Every Youth Available

"It is too early to make comment on the statement of Labor Minister Mitchell that youths of sixteen, seventeen and eighteen have been made liable to compulsory employment transfer orders," said C. A. Mudge, manager of the local Selective Service Office yesterday. "I can only say that we can use every able-bodied youth right here."

The statement was contained in a report made by the Labor Minister before the House of Commons on Wednesday, in which Mr. Mitchell described the distribution of manpower and womanpower resources in Canada.

A brief survey of downtown businesses revealed that while some employed young men under military age, the number was not very great. Many of the boys doing delivery work were under sixteen, and many sixteen to eighteen-year-olds were already in essential industry.

For the past week Selective Service officials have been kept busy receiving applications from school students who wish to work during the holidays. There has been no difficulty in placing them.

May Soon Have Two Meatless Days

Restaurant owners in Victoria are planning a general meeting to discuss the reduced meat quota and the feasibility of having two meatless days a week, in order to stretch supplies, it was reported yesterday by several cafe managers.

Officials of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board state that restaurants are not getting as much meat as they did in the past, and some managers estimate that they are allotted about 70 per cent of former requirements.

With increased patronage this means that more fish and meat substitutes must be served in order to stretch the meat ration. Most cafes agree that a second meatless day is the only solution, though a few of the larger hotels state that their supply is sufficient and they have received no instructions regarding any change.

THE DIAMOND

When the Navy ball players are injected with that serum called "fight," they don't care who the opposing pitcher is and what team they are set to face. V.M.D. sent out Tommy Musgrave against them the other evening and the former junior hurler of several seasons ago was the victim of a heavy shelling before he trotted to the dugout in the fifth frame, a badly beaten right-hander. . . . The sailors hit his offerings hard and ran around the bases like a bunch of jack-rabbits when the green light flashed. On the mound for the Esquimalt lads was Jimmy Dumeah and he uncorked his best form of the season. He was a winning pitcher all the way. . . . Not so long ago the fans were saying that the shipbuilders were the club to beat, but today they are wondering if they didn't talk a little too soon. This corner thinks they did. . . . Funny thing about the Eagles, they have scored enough runs in most of their recent games for an ordinary ball club to come out on top, but not the birdmen. Seventy-five per cent of a winning squad is a strong defence and that's what the Eagles lack. Of course, Mr. Syretuck could do with some reliable moundmen to help Ray Maitland and Maurice Diamond. . . . Mark my words, watch this pennant race from now on, because there will be oodles of fun, excitement and the old applecart will be upset not once, but several times. . . . Along with the two games on Dominion Day, which reminds me that your columnist will pass another milestone that day, there will be base-running and heaving the agate for distance. Alderman Burges Gadsen, of the parks board, has already come forward with prizes for the latter event in the form of War Savings Stamps. . . . St. Regis Hotel will be over for the holiday twin bill and will face a picked services' nine in the opener and the V.M.D. in the nightcap. That's a sweet menu for the fans, so we expect to see the park loaded to the gills, so to speak.

ODDS AND ENDS

It's June and Dave "Sweeney" Schriner announces his retirement from big-time hockey again. Every year about this time the veteran forward says he will not return to Toronto Maple Leafs, which means hanging up his skates for good. This time he is reported to have said the retirement is definite; that his trick knee has ended his career; that he has a good job in Calgary and will stay with it. If Sweeney makes it stick, it will leave the Leafs with only six members of the club which won the Stanley Cup last season—Apps, Broda, Carr, Davidson, Hamilton and McDonald. The latter was near the end of his trail last year and Apps' leg is an uncertain quantity yet. . . . From 1917 to the end of 1942, the time of 1.36 for a mile has been bettered no less than sixty times on American race tracks, but the world's mark still is held by Equipoise who raced the distance in 1.34 2-5. . . . Strong efforts will be made to bring together Whirlaway, Alsab and Count Fleet this coming Fall, according to H. B. Swope, head of the New York racing plants. What a great gallop that should be if the trio were right at their peak. . . . It pays to have a winner. The Phils drew 143,000 to nineteen home games, the Athletics attracted 240,000 to twenty-nine. That's 383,000 to forty-eight games, so, at that rate, 1,000,000 fans will see the Philly teams in action this season. Time marches on! . . . Branch Rickey is still scouting shortstop prospects for the Brooklyn Dodgers and has inspected Eddie Tuchin, of Buffalo, and Bobby Repass, of the Baltimore Orioles. . . . For the first time in history the Western Canada, British Columbia and Vancouver Island hockey championship trophies are resting alongside each other right in the showcase of the Victoria Army team. At Elmer Kreller's wedding reception the trophies were on display at the home of Lieut. and Mrs. Warburton's home, and I dare say that the cup of the team's triumphant trail into the Allan Cup final was drunk from them on such an occasion. It may be a mighty long time before those pieces of silverware sit side by side again. Still again, it may be next season, one never nows, but let's hope so.

FROM HERE AND THERE

Navy and Army softball teams are going away from home to try conclusions with outside opposition just for a change. Yesterday the sailors left for the Mainland to play a two-game series there today and tomorrow, while the soldiers sail out of the city next week for a proposed seven-game schedule with teams in and around Seattle. . . . Before leaving town the bluejackets entrenched themselves in first place in the race for the Senior League honors, by blanking the V.M.D. . . . One thing the match-makers will have to see to the night of the fight card at the Athletic Park, and that is to have a flock of men around the fences to stop all those who will attempt to scale the walls. I remember one card staged there years ago and the promoters looked around at the big crowd and thought then and there that they were in the gravy, but what a shock they got when they checked the financial returns. A good portion of the fans paid and another good portion sailed beautifully over the fences like well-trained pole vaulters and many of them landed in reserve seats.

Army Nine To Oppose Birdmen

Soldiers Shooting For Leading Berth

Victoria's 1943 senior baseball league pennant chase is giving every indication of being one of the most interesting since the organization of the Victoria Baseball Association six years ago.

With the schedule just past the halfway mark, three clubs, V.M.D., Army and Navy are only separated by a single game, and with the present week-end fixture, even this slim advantage may be changed before the week closes.

Soldiers half a game back of the pennant-leading V.M.D. baseballers, will stack up against the Eagles this evening, and while it is admitted that the birdmen are an improved club the odds should favor the Army to win.

Manager George Syrotuck, who has popped up the infield by taking over the keystone sack, plans to start "Major" Bowes, former Winnipeg southpaw, against the troops. Jack Bacon, veteran receiver, will be back of home plate.

Lieut. W. E. Warburton, soldier manager, is undecided as to his starting pitcher. With the V.M.D. as their opposition tomorrow, the troops will be careful in the selection of their hurler for tonight's game with the birdmen. Game time is 6.30 o'clock.

Royal Canadian Air Force will be back at the old stand tomorrow afternoon to meet the Royal Canadian Navy in the matinee fixture of the regular Saturday double bill. The evening contest will bring together the V.M.D. and the Army. Afternoon game is billed for 2.30 o'clock, with the nightcap set for 6.30 o'clock.

Highland Games Set

Annual Event to Be Staged July 31

The sixth annual games of the Victoria Highland Games Association will be held at Macdonald Park on Saturday, July 31, when a special programme has been arranged to suit all tastes and likes.

There will be a great many events for the three services in particular, and a large entry has been promised from this source and there will also be a number of races for the 'teen-age boys and girls.

Outstanding numbers on the programme will be the miniature commando raid by the army, special stunts by the R.C.A.F. and the navy.

In addition to all this there will be the usual bagpipe and dancing competitions and massed bands if they are available at that time.

Inquiries are being received from far afield already and there is an assurance of abundant competition in all departments.

The following is the full programme arranged by the field and track committee, under the joint chairmanship of Arthur Manson and John Basler, ably assisted by Archie McKinnon and representatives of the three forces.

Inter-Service Events—100, 200, 440 and 880-yard dashes, one mile; relay race, tilting water bucket, sack race, novelty dress walk, pillow fight and battle royal with four men from each of the services.

Inter-Service and War Workers—Sixteen-pound shot, sixteen-pound hammer throw (stiff handle), tossing the caber, throwing the discus.

Youths' Under Nineteen Years of Age—100, 220, 440 and 880-yard dashes and a relay race.

Open—Running broad jump, running high jump and tug-of-war (ten men and coach, weight 1,820 pounds).

For Women—50-yard sack race, 75-yard dash and 50-yard back and forward race.

For the Children — Girls under eight years of age, nine to twelve years, thirteen to sixteen years; boys under eight years of age, nine to twelve years, thirteen to sixteen years (all handicap races).

Carmichael Cup Golf Tourney

Twenty-seven shotmakers were entered in the annual Carmichael Cup competition at the Gorge Vale Golf Club, which will get under way Sunday morning with the first round scheduled. With post entries being accepted the field is expected to be increased by post time.

8.10—J. G. Buckler, R. Dunlop and B. Johnstone.

8.20—M. E. McDowell, B. Snape and R. Davison.

8.30—D. Hosmer, E. Brachat and W. Neilson.

8.40—D. Gilliard, W. G. Frampton and J. G. Thomson.

8.50—A. J. Maynard, O. A. Trickett and O. H. Dorman.

9.00—J. Cunningham, W. G. Blackman and C. Homeon.

9.10—P. Sieran, A. Clarke and R. Peden.

9.20—W. Rowe, J. Caddell and G. E. Dasley.

RESENTED SEPARATION

LONDON (CP)—Psychologists have found that many children evacuated from vulnerable areas resented the separation from their homes. Minor delinquency and truancy were symptoms of this feeling.

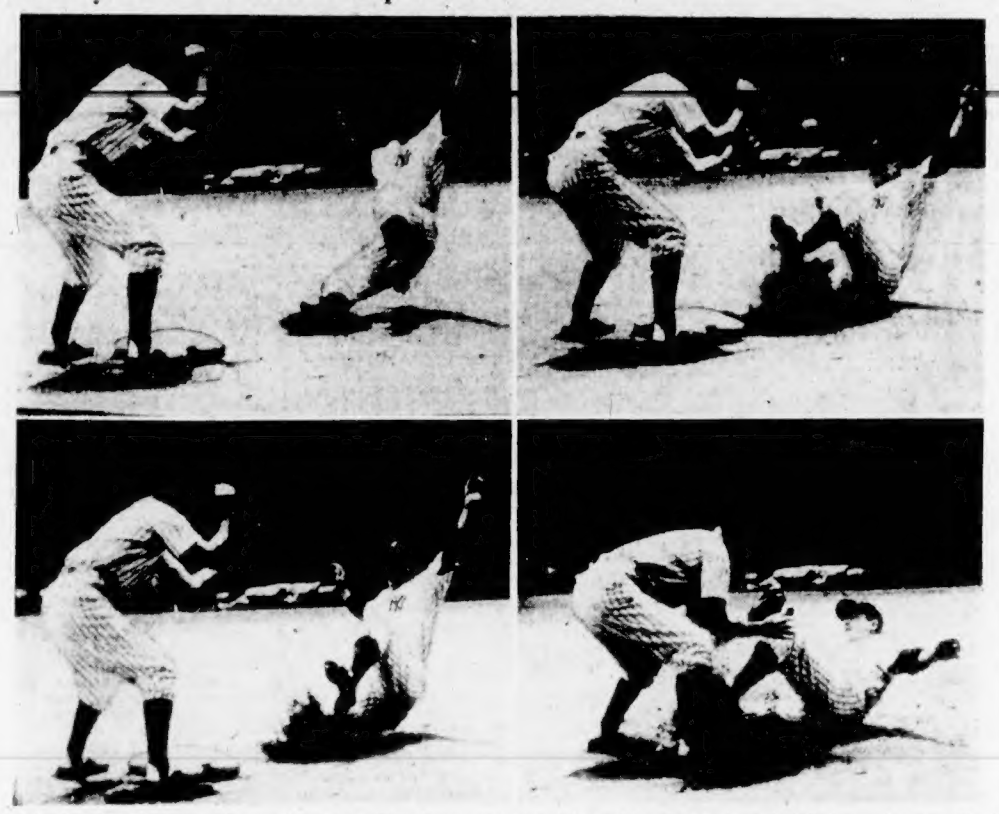
Magic Eye Camera Gets Champion Base Thief in Action



You take a long lead (but not too long or the pitcher will catch you napping), and then as he is about to throw the ball plateward, you run like the dickens and hit the dirt to slide into the next bag before the catcher's throw catches you. It takes speed and co-ordination and was becoming more or less a lost art compared to the good old days, until George Stirnweiss, of the Yanks, revived it. George led the International League last year in the number of bases stolen, and now that he is in the big circut he is leading the American League in the same department. With Frank Crosetti, his teammate, covering the bag, he illustrates his technique for the benefit of the magic eye camera.

Gumbert Pitches Cards to Victory

Tames Cincy Reds in Morning Game— Giants Finally Defeat Dodgers

NATIONAL LEAGUE

CINCINNATI, June 24 (CP)—Coming back strongly after their 8-3 defeat yesterday, St. Louis Cardinals won handily from Cincinnati Reds, 5-1, in a morning "swing-shift" game today to give Harry Gumbert his second straight victory over Bucky Walters in ten days.

Sewell Wins Another

CHICAGO, June 24 (CP)—Truett (Rip) Sewell, the Pittsburgh right-hander whose dipsy-doodle stuff mesmerizes the Cubs, today beat the Chicagoans for the fifth time this season, 2-1. It was his ninth victory against two defeats.

	R	H	E
Pittsburgh	002 000 000—2	9	1
Chicago	100 000 000—1	11	1

Batteries—Sewell and Lopez; Lee and McCullough.

Phils Come to Life

BOSTON, June 24 (CP)—After dropping three games in a row, the Phillies battered four Boston Braves pitchers for sixteen hits and a 12-5 victory today to square a six-game National League series. Si Johnson, the veteran right-hander, went the distance for the victors and was credited with his seventh victory of the season.

Shirley Muir In New Record

VANCOUVER, June 24 (CP)—Shirley Muir of the Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club, chalked up her third Canadian record tonight in the V.A.S.C.'s annual trials. She won the 150-yard junior girls backstroke dash, clipping one-fifth of a second off the mark set by Bernice Belbeck, of Hamilton (Ont.) Athletic Club. Shirley's time was 2:01.4.

Miss Muir already holds the fifty-yard and 200-yard backstroke records.

New Franchises Will Operate in National League

TORONTO, June 24 (CP)—The Evening Telegram said today that Buffalo and Cleveland will be represented by teams in the National Hockey League next season—if the N.H.L. operates.

The story said Al Sutphin, owner of the Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League, soon will go to Victoria to confer with Mervin (Red) Dutton, acting president of the N.H.L., and Lester Patrick, of New York Rangers.

Frank Selke of the Toronto Maple Leafs in the N.H.L. said he had talked with Sutphin and that the Cleveland owner seems certain to seek a N.H.L. berth. Officials of the Buffalo Club in the A.H.L. also are interested, Selke said.

The Telegram said it is rumored that the owner of the Buffalo Club is considering sale of his interests and those interested in purchasing the club want major league rating.

Service Scrappers In Fast Bouts

Sailors, Soldiers Toss Leather— Wrestlers Show in Exhibition

Young Canadians, members of Canada's fighting forces, donned the leather mittens at a West Coast Naval Station last night and presented a bang-up boxing show. The large drill hall, scene of the bouts, was crowded to capacity while many unable to gain admission peeped through large glass windows.

The scraps had no particular significance other than to provide entertainment for 1,500 shipmates and special guests, and the way the lads tossed leather pleased the fans. Loud outbursts of applause greeted the fighters at the conclusion of each fight, and prolonged cheering followed the presentations of the prizes.

First four bouts on the action-crammed card brought together new entries, young Canadians finishing their first three months as members of Canada's navy, and the way they mixed it pleased the patrons. Many of the youngsters had never appeared before in a competitive bout, but their willingness to throw leather more than compensated for their lack of skill.

On the more experienced side of the fisticuffing programme the fans saw Ord. Smn. Teddy Gray, Victoria, win the call over Gnr. Jimmy Dumont, Port Alberni, in a smart boxing bout. It was one of the best scraps on the splendid card, with Gray winning a clean-cut decision.

Private Berri, of the Canadian Army, a Toronto boy, had too much class and experience for Slo. L. Brown, Prince Albert, and won the nod in the main event on the programme. They fought in the middleweight division.

Fast, classy and interesting was the three-round exhibition between Ord. Smn. Jack Turner, Vancouver, Canadian flyweight champion, and Pte. Bobby Parker, Victoria, Seattle Golden Gloves and P.N.W. bantamweight king.

SAILOR REGISTERS TECHNICAL KNOCKOUT

Ord. Smn. M. Purnell, Cardston, registered a second round technical knockout over Ord. Smn. R. C. Collett, Fort Francis, when the referee halted the mix to save the loser from further punishment. Purnell displayed good sportsmanship when he refused to hit his opponent when he had him at his mercy, and Collett won the admiration of the fans for his gameness. A right to the body after a two-fisted attack to the face ended the fracas. The bout was in the lightweight division.

Slo. "Tiger" Goldstick, Edmonton, and George Lowe, Victoria, drew quite an ovation for their ten-minute wrestling exhibition. Well versed in all of the theatricals, the pair put on an entertaining show.

Cmdr. R. P. Kingscote, P.O. Cecil Cockrill and L.S. Gordon Grayston repeated their ever popular and highly amusing boxing show depicting the right and wrong things to do in the ring. Many of the naval ratings, viewing the show for the first time, certainly enjoyed every minute of the unusual entertainment.

Ord. Smn. J. A. Dunbar, Calgary, dropped the verdict to Ord. Smn. D. R. Baker, Moose Jaw, in the lightweight novice bout, while in the welterweight division Ord. Smn. R. L. Richard, Fort Francis, won the call over Ord. Smn. J. N. Murray, Caroline.

Ord. Smn. J. Connells, Drumheller, punched out a decision over Ord. Smn. R. Graham, Fort Arthur, while Ord. Smn. V. Mackinnon, Fort William, defeated Ord. Smn. P. R. Harding, Kelowna, in the light-heavyweight scrap. The bouts were all in the novice class.

Hon. W. C. Woodward, Lieutenant-Governor, presented the prizes at the conclusion of the bouts.

Royal Canadian Navy Band, under the direction of Lieut. H. G. Cuthbert, R.C.N.V.R., played prior to the start of the bouts and at the end of the show.

The boxing card was staged by kind permission of Capt. F. G. Hart, R.C.N.

Woodhouse Rides Well

Four Winners at Hamilton Track

HAMILTON, Ont., June 24 (CP)—Jockey Hedley Woodhouse, of Vancouver, who usually rides for W. G. Irvine, of Vancouver, attracted considerable attention through his ability to bring home winners at four racing meets at Toronto and today added further laurels to his name. He figured in six events at the opening meet at the Hamilton Jockey Club.

Woodhouse notched three firsts and a second place in the first four races and added another winner and a third place in the last three races. He missed out in the sixth race.

Palmera T. paid off $11.80 for first place in the fifth race, while Light Jos paid $4.50 for third place in the nightcap.

He was astride Koraline, Brodear and Hi Brier in the first, second and fourth, and booted Pacific Maid into place spot in the third.

Daily double of Koraline and Brodear—former third in the betting, latter starting at less than even money—paid a paltry $11.90.

Koraline led Northswept, paid only $3.50 to win, with Trevelyen and Sky runner also entering the money.

War problem topped the third event from Pacific Maid and Flying Pretty. Straight tickets were worth $14.90. Birley was up on the winner.

Fourth event went to Hi Brier at $10.30, Ucha and Cease Fire trailing.

R.A.F. Stages Gala, Dance

Royal Air Force swimming gala and dance last night at the Crystal Garden was a big success. Competition in the various events was keen and honors were well divided during the thirteen events. Following the gala, a large throng attended the dance, which lasted until the early hours of the morning, with the R.A.F. Orchestra rendering the music. Navy Blanks V.M.D. Softballers—Army Turns Back the Flyers

V.M.D.	10	5	5	.500
R.C.A.F.	10	5	5	.500
Army	10	4	6	.400

Last night's scores:
Navy 2, V.M.D. 0
Army 5, R.C.A.F. 1.

"Porky" Hume's long homer in the third frame with a mate on first base and two men down gave the Navy a negt 2-0 victory over Victoria Machinery Depot softballers last evening in the senior division of the Lower Island Association at the Athletic Park. The victory moved the sailors into undisputed first place in the tight race for the championship, a full game ahead of the shipyarders and Royal Canadian Air Force. In the first game of the double-header, the Army moved up closer to the second-place occupants by downing the Flyers, 5-1. The soldiers, although in the cellar, are within striking distance of the three clubs in front of them, that's how close the chase really is.

Navy paraded a new pitcher by the name of Scott to the mound and he showed plenty of stuff as he whipped them by the V.M.D. batters inning after inning. He allowed two paltry hits, one in the second and the other two frames later and fanned ten during the seven cantos. Billsborough was on the hill for the losers and gave up five safeties and had two strikeouts, but one of the hits was that circuit by Hume and it was big enough for a sailor victory via the shutout route.

ARMY BEATS THE AIRMEN

The soldiers got away to a fast start against the airmen, touching Pitcher Jimmy Lowe for four hits and three runs in the opening session. That outburst proved good enough to win as it turned out. They added a singleton in the fifth and pushed over a couple more runs in the next inning for good measure.

Army played errorless ball behind the twirling of Hertzman, who was touched for six hits, two of which came in the third when the R.C.A.F. scored its lone tally. Hertzman fanned six. Lowe gave up seven bloos, one a home run by Gerrard in the fifth with the bases unpopulated, and he struck out an even half dozen. His mates didn't help him at times as they committed four errors during the battle.

Scores:	R.

Speece in 9-1 Victory

Pitches Seattle To Easy Triumph

SEATTLE, June 24 (AP).—The lowly Seattle Rainiers ran wild this evening against the lowlier Sacramento Senators to win a Coast League twilight baseball game, 9-1.

Seattle got thirteen hits, while Speece allowed seven to the Solons but kept them well scattered. Two Sacramento errors also helped.

Sacramento's lone tally came in the second when Second Baseman Vernal Jones doubled and came home on a single by Joe Molina, rightfielder.

Oaks Come Through

OAKLAND, Cal., June 24 (AP).—Oakland won its third consecutive Coast League baseball game from Hollywood today, 4-1.

The Stars single run, unearned, came in the second when Jake Caulfield, after taking Eddie Erautt's grounder, threw the ball into the Hollywood dugout in an attempt to catch Jim Hill at third. Hill had doubled and advanced on Erautt's grounder.

Erautt went out in the eighth for a pinch hitter and Pat McLaughlin finished the game. One run was scored off McLaughlin when Luby doubled and scored on Deminczni's single.

Sport Snapshots

By CHARLES EDWARDS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, June 24 (CP).—Ray Getliffe's announced retirement as an active player with Montreal Canadiens brings to light a new worry for the National Hockey League. Getliffe figures it doesn't pay him to accept all that dough from Canadiens. Here's the story disclosed by Chick Appel, of The Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Getliffe owns a retail shoe business in Stratford where his wife and two children reside. Last year Ray was only induced to join Canadiens by a substantial salary increase. But, says Getliffe, despite the larger salary, he figures income taxes and the higher cost of living in Montreal left him only about $50 ahead of what he would have accumulated by remaining in Stratford to look after his business.

Most hockey players have off-season jobs. Wages earned on these jobs take care of their income tax exemptions. Therefore they must pay anywhere up to 30 per cent of their hockey salaries in taxes. If they have to move their families to the city for the Winter it costs them that much more to live. This angle would influence only married men. Single men don't usually care where they hang their hats.

"CALL ME BUTCH."

The O'Hagens, of Sudbury, Ont., are rapidly producing another box fighter. Thirty years ago Mike O'Hagen was an amateur fighter around the Ottawa Valley. He settled in Sudbury. In 1936 the name popped back into boxing news when Freddie O'Hagen, now twenty-four, won the Northern Ontario bantam title. Three years later he was the top welterweight in his own neck of the woods. Freddie has been out of competition for several months but brother Stan, only seventeen, is well known in Nickel Belt rings. And coming fast to succeed him is ten-year-old Butch. His name really is Hector but for safety's sake you call him Butch. He's been appearing on fight cards in Sudbury for two years; works out regularly at the Inco Club; has just one burning ambition—to be a topflight boxer.

INCIDENTALLY:

Detroit Red Wings of the N.H.L. are backing St. James Canadians in the Manitoba Junior Hockey League as a farm club but they're losing their farm hands fast. Jack Aggart is reported headed for Oshawa Generals, Tony Rockey and Dick Pratt for Brantford Lions and Tommy Haylon and Doug McMurdy for St. Catharines. . . . When a Calgary R.C.A.F. team beat Calgary Navy in a foothills baseball league game, 28-9, last week, Max "Pentley, the Chicago hockey ace, banged out five hits, a single, three doubles and a triple to lead the airmen. He drove in four runs and scored four himself.

At the Theatres

Musical Comedy Now at Dominion

"Reveille With Beverly," starring Ann Miller, opens today at the Dominion Theatre. The film is based upon an exceedingly popular radio broadcast, which first attracted attention on the West Coast and which rapidly attained nation-wide fame.

Miss Miller is the "Beverly" of the title, a swing fan employed as switchboard operator in a Denver radio station. Insisting that jive programmes would attract plenty of attention, she manages to handle an early-morning programme of classical music, and promptly switches over to hotter rhythms. Her programme is dedicated to the boys in army camps, and it immediately becomes a sensation.

Beverly's bright chatter and brighter recordings make her a subject of curious conversation in the camps. "Is she as attractive as she sounds?" William Wright and Dick Purcell undertake to find out. The romantic rivalry which follows contributes much to the picture's entertainment.

Amusements

On the Screen

Atlas—Robert Taylor, Charles Laughton and Brian Donlevy in "Stand By for Action."

Cadet—"Seven Sweethearts," starring Kathryn Grayson and Van Heflin.

Capitol—"Hello, Frisco, Hello," starring Alice Faye, John Payne and Lynn Bari.

Dominion—"Reveille With Beverly," with Ann Miller and Duke Ellington and His Band.

Oak Bay and Plaza—Deanna Durbin and Edmond O'Brien in "The Amazing Mrs. Holliday."

Rio—Lloyd Nolan and Marjorie Weaver in "Just off Broadway."

York—Fred Astaire and Rita Hayworth in "You Were Never Lovlier."

ATLAS THEATRE A Japanese flyer almost hits an American destroyer in "Stand By for Action," M-G-M's thrilling saga of war against the Japanese in the Pacific now showing at the Atlas Theatre and starring Robert Taylor, Brian Donlevy and Charles Laughton. Directed by Robert Z. Leonard, it deals with a young lieutenant who by an amazing manoeuvre wards a Japanese battleship and saves a convoy.

CADET THEATRE There is no priority on romance. This is revealed by many letters ranging from warm admiration to burning proposals of marriage received by girls in "Seven Sweethearts," now at the Cadet Theatre. Kathryn Grayson, Marsha Hunt, Cecilia Parker, Peggy Moran, Frances Raebugh, Frances Rafferty and Dorothy Morris have all received such a deluge of fan letters that they are keeping score. Most of them are running fairly evenly in proposals of marriage.

CAPITOL THEATRE Alice Faye sings several old-time ballads as well as new hits in 20th Century-Fox Technicolor musical, "Hello, Frisco, Hello," which is showing at the Capitol Theatre. They include "Gee, It's Great to Meet a Friend From Your Home Town," "Lindy Lou," "Hello, Frisco" and "You'll Never Know." John Payne, Lynn Bari and Jack Oakie are also starred.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES Deanna Durbin is revealed as one of Hollywood's most talented and glamorous stars in her eleventh and most important motion picture, Universal's "The Amazing Mrs. Holliday," which is showing at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres. Edmond O'Brien, Barry Fitzgerald, Arthur Treacher and others are in the distinguished cast.

RIO THEATRE Lloyd Nolan leads a double life in "Just Off Broadway," tracking down a double murder by day and dabbling in romance by night. The film, a suspenseful mystery drama, is the latest in 20th Century-Fox's popular Michael Shayne detective melodramas and is now showing at the Rio Theatre.

YORK THEATRE "You Were Never Lovelier," now at the York Theatre, is set in South America, where Rita Hayworth is the daughter of a wealthy impresario, and where Fred Astaire is trying to recoup race-track losses by obtaining a job. He inadvertently becomes involved in the impresario's efforts to teach his daughter the meaning of romance, becomes her "dream prince," and, naturally, winds up married to the girl!

Clever Young Star Coming to Capitol

Roddy McDowall, the youngster who rocketed to fame on his outstanding performance in "How Green Was My Valley," has come through with another understanding portrait of a sensitive lad in Mary O'Hara's "My Friend Flicka," a new Technicolor film due Monday at the Capitol Theatre.

Preston Foster and Rita Johnson share the featured billing with Roddy in the simple story of glorious adventure of youth in the West of today. Harold Schuster directed the picture.

SILK FROM CYPRUS

CAIRO (CP).—The production of silk cocoons in Cyprus is expanding rapidly and the British Government has undertaken to buy the whole of the next year's crop.

According to Culbertson

Of all the "swings" possible at the bridge table, the greatest, perhaps, is to bid a grand slam in the wrong denomination and to go down a trick instead of collecting a matter of some 2,000 points. The "swing" grows, of course, in scope when, as a result of this catastrophe, the opponents grab the rubber on the next deal. North, in the following hand, is still bewailing the "bad luck" that he was held responsible for the loss of 2,920 points. His arithmetic was correct, but he erred badly in placing the blame.

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ J
♥ Q 5
♦ A

WEST
♠ A 10 7
♥ A K 10
♦ K J 10 9 6 5
♣ 3 2

EAST
♠ 9 8 6 5
♥ J 6 4 3 2
♦ 4
♣ Q J 9

SOUTH
♠ K Q 4 3 2
♥ Q 9 8 7
♦ Q 8 7 3 2
♣ 10 8 5 4

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	4 ♣	Pass
4 ♦	Pass	4 ♦ (1)	Pass
Pass	Pass

All one has to do is glance at West's holding of five diamonds to the Q-8 to realize that the grand slam contract was not successful.

This, as indicated above, was a severe blow in view of the fact that seven no trump, or seven spades, would have been a laydown. The tragedy deepened when the opponents' bid and made three no trump on the next deal.

North was culpable in defending his own jump to seven diamonds, pointing to South's repeated bids in the diamond suit as evidence that he suit would be solid with the addition of his ace. South countered this argument in the simplest possible fashion by asking, "How would you have me bid over two spades and four clubs?" North had no specific suggestions along this line.

The fact was, of course, that North's hope of a solid diamond suit was just so much wishful thinking. South had not repeatedly rebid the suit of his own volition; he had been forced by North's original jump takeout and following bid of four clubs.

After the disastrous outcome South admitted that he had considered taking the seven diamond contract out to seven no trump, but, as he explained it, it had been deterred by the thought that North might have such a hand as ♠ A K x x x ♥ x x ♦ A Q x x x ♣ A x.

With this holding, North's bidding might well be exactly the same as it was, and now seven diamonds would have an odds-on chance, whereas there would be no legitimate play for seven no trump.

The salient point of this deal is that North, having made a series of forces, should not have attributed such high value to his own singleton diamond ace. Instead of leaping [illegible] diamonds, he should have made the far safer and equally constructive call of six no trump.

THIRTY FLYERS KILLED

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP).—The Office of War Information tonight said thirty flyers have been killed and seventy-three planes lost in the work—over land and water—of the United States Civil Air Patrol since its organization in November, 1941. The C.A.P.'s 75,000 volunteer airmen, operating at more than 1,000 airfields, have made flights totalling more than 20,000,000 miles and spotted more than 150 submarines for the army, navy and coast guard.

LONDON, June 24 (CP).—Racehorse Trainer H. L. Cottrill kept seventy race horses and seven Jersey cattle in peacetime. Now he has seventy cattle and seven race horses because, like many other trainers, since the war he has turned to farming between gallops.

Cottrill called in an agricultural expert when he decided to give more attention to the soil than the silks. His land formerly was considered too poor for crops, but 150 acres which never had seen the plough before yielded twelve sacks of good oats an acre.

The farm is at Seven Barrows in Berkshire, where Oaks and Guineas winners trained where oats grow now.

Tommy Weston is back in England and riding as well as ever—but he had a tough time making it.

A navy petty officer, forty-two-year-old Tommy spent sixty-four hours in the water after his ship was torpedoed. His chest still is affected from salt water and oil, but up Epsom way you'll find him out at dawn each day sending a racer through its paces.

Billy Smith, Epsom trainer, is attempting to have Tommy, who won two Derbys and numerous other races for Lord Derby, take out a jockey licence. Right now he's on sick leave and his future with the navy, which he joined at the outbreak of war, is uncertain.

It took half the season to do it, but the King registered his first racing success when the unbacked Knight's Daughter won the Pampisford Stakes at Newmarket. The five-furlong sprint was for two-year-old fillies and victory enriched the Royal coffers by approximately $1,300. Knight's Daughter always showed too much speed for the hot favorite, Lady Beatly's Bois Vista.

Compared to last season, this has been a poor year for His Majesty's racers. Biggest disappointment was the colt Tipstaff, which he hoped would carry the Royal silks in the classics. But Tipstaff, who went well in gallops, showed no inclination to run on the track and it was announced after his second poor showing that the colt would not run again for the King.

Capt. J. A. Waugh, who participated in the Dieppe raid and the Dunkerque evacuation, had a winner at Newmarket with his first runner, Response. The colt made all the running to win the Column Stakes. Response was trained by Waugh after he had been invalided from the army and took over the stables of his uncle, Dawson Waugh.

Booby Trap, spoken of as Lord Derby's main hope for the classic races and backed for the Derby this month at 20-1, failed to place.

PATERSON, N.J., June 24 (AP).—Taking note of "an unfavorable washback" whenever Tony Galento has appeared recently, the National Boxing Association ruled yesterday that any "barnstorming" the Orange, N.J., round man does from now on "will be strictly as entertainment and not in the guise of boxing competition."

Abe Greene, N.B.A. president, said he had advised Two-Ton and his manager, Willie Gilzenberg, of the ruling and that Gilzenberg assured him that from now on any bookings made for Tony will be "on the strict representation that he is appearing for exhibitions only."

ISLAND MEN GRADUATE

British Columbia: D. J. Price, Cumberland; T. M. Stewart, Nanaimo.

LONDON, June 24 (CP).—Sir Cecil George Graves resigned today as joint director-general of the British Broadcasting Corporation because of ill health. He had been connected with the B.B.C. in various capacities since 1926. R. W. Foot is the other joint director-general.

Mrs. Roosevelt In Stage Role

NEW YORK, June 24 (AP).—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt has made her debut as an actress playing the role of Myrna Loy on an improvised stage at the President's Hyde Park home.

This was disclosed today by Producer John Golden, who last Saturday took the "Army Play by Play," the collection of one-act plays written and acted by soldiers, to Hyde Park where they were enacted before the President, Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau and other notables.

In one of the plays, "Button Your Lip," a draftee's dream that Myrna Loy came to see him comes true, but the movie actress, who took the role when the plans appeared June 14 on Broadway, was ill.

Golden said Mrs. Roosevelt volunteered to take the actress' role and at the climax of the play entered with the line:

"Myrna Loy can't be here. Can't I take her place?"

Then the curtain descended, Golden said, amid cheers.

Frigates, the Royal Navy's latest warships, carry 125 to 140 men, compared with seventy-eight to eighty-five in a Corvette. Many of the new ships are being built in Canada.

"So much faster! I can hardly believe my eyes" . . . "Dissolves grease so fast that dirt just seems to float off." That's what housewives everywhere are saying the first time they try the New, 50% Faster Old Dutch Cleanser.

So, in fairness to yourself, try the New, Improved Old Dutch Cleanser today. See stoves, sinks, bathtubs, and windows come glistening clean in record time! What's more, you'll be saving money, too . . . because a little goes so far!

AFTER VICTORY

Electricity Has Another Great Job To Do

The Guns and Bombsights represented in the picture are only two of many items of war production manufactured in Westinghouse Plants in Hamilton, Canada

Together with their sons and brothers in the Fighting Forces, Westinghouse men and women at home, by producing weapons and munitions are waging relentless war upon the enemies of human liberty.

This inspiring task will be carried on, backed by all Westinghouse resources, until Victory is won.

FREEDOM OF WORSHIP
FREEDOM OF SPEECH
FREEDOM FROM WANT
FREEDOM FROM FEAR
* FREEDOM OF OPPORTUNITY

Westinghouse — Canada's great Electrical and Electronic Industry is not only helping defend the Four Freedoms . . . it is helping also to make secure for every Canadian, the priceless heritage of the Fifth Freedom . . . "Freedom of Opportunity."

Though Westinghouse war production strives ever higher, calling for more and newer offensive weapons and devices, the day is not far distant when all our talents and resources will again be concentrated upon the tasks of peace.

Then, in the years to come after Victory, electricity will make its greatest contributions to the welfare of all of Canada's people.

It will be our job to help speed more bountiful production in every line of endeavour

. . . to aid in utilizing for the advancement of all our Provinces, Canada's ten million electrical horsepower which will be available for post-war development

. . . to equip our homes for better living and the greater enjoyment of our labours

. . . to provide new and greater opportunities than ever before, for Canada's victorious sons and Canada's workers of farm and mine and factory

. . . to aid in creating means by which no Canadian shall lack the better things of life, providing he contributes of his talents and energy toward their creation.

2 DEATHS

BRUCE—At the Royal Jubilee Hospital on Tuesday morning, June 22, the Rev. Mosedale William John Bruce, of Llwyn-Y-Mor, Mount Newton Crossroad, Saanich. He was born in Wales, and had been a resident of Victoria for twenty-two years. Survived by his widow at home. Funeral service will be held in St. John's Church on Friday, June 25, at 12 o'clock noon. Rev. George Biddle officiating. Interment will be in St. Mary's Magdalene Churchyard, Mayne Island. The Thomson Funeral Home has charge of the arrangements. (No flowers, by request.)

LUNEY—The funeral of William Alfred Luney took place Tuesday afternoon, June 22, 1943, from the Metropolitan Church. Rev. Dr. Whitehouse officiating, in presence of a large congregation. The following were pallbearers: J. Anderton, W. J. Hamilton, A. Pettipiece, Murray Martindale, Colonel Brooke Stephenson and J. V. Johnson. The remains were laid at rest in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery. Hayward's B.C. Funeral Co., directors.

ROBINSON—On June 23, after a lengthy illness, there passed away, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hugh W. Gibson, 324 St. Andrews Street, Emily Jane Wayne, widow of George E. Robinson. The late Mrs. Robinson was born in Oxford County, Ontario, April 1, 1865, and came West to Rodolfi, Sask., in 1906, residing there and in Saskatoon until 1938 when she moved to Victoria to make her home. Besides her daughter there survive one son, R. Wayne Robinson, and three grandchildren of Battleford, Sask., one sister, Mrs. C. Sutherland, two brothers, William F. and Charles L., all of Brantford, Ontario, also several nephews and nieces.

Funeral services will be conducted this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the parlors of the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home. Rev. Dr. Hugh McLeod and Rev. John Turner will officiate and interment will take place in the family plot at Royal Oak Burial Park.

3 MARRIAGES

CHRISTIE-BRISTOWE—Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Bristowe, Deep Cove, announce the marriage of their only daughter, Jean, to Mr. Thomas Ludlow Christie, engineer, son of Major and Mrs. A. E. Christie, 464 Linden Avenue. The wedding was solemnized by Rev. Canon St. John Payne, in Holy Trinity Church, Patricia Bay, at 1 o'clock, June 24. Mr. and Mrs. Christie will make their home in Victoria.

JONES-READINOS—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Readings, McTavish Road, Sidney, B.C., announce the marriage of their only daughter, Edith Victoria, to Pte. Ainert T. E. Jones, R.C.A.S.C., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Jones, 2478 Cambridge Street, Vancouver, B.C., which took place at the residence of the bride's parents, at 9.30 p.m., Saturday, June 19, Rev. Percy Wills officiated. Pte. and Mrs. Jones will make their home at 353 Burnside Road.

4 CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Williams and family wish to thank their many friends for the beautiful flowers and expressions of sympathy extended to them in their recent and bereavement.

5 IN MEMORIAM

FORD—In loving memory of Daddo. Mallard Charles Ford, who gave his life in the loss of the Canadian destroyer, Fraser, June 23, 1940.

They shall not grow old as we that are left grow old.
Age shall not weary them nor the years condemn.
At the going down of the sun and in the morning
We will remember them.

—Inserted by Viola and Jerry.

PRICE—In ever loving memory of John Roberts Price, Petty C.P.O., who was lost on H.M.C.S. Fraser, June 23, 1940.

I seem to see in the soft dim light
A face I loved the best,
And think of him, when the sun's last ray
Goes down in the far off West.

—Inserted by his Mother.

Little Stories for Bedtime

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

"What will you do?" demanded Chatterer the Red Squirrel from the very next tree.

SAMMY JAY MAKES UP HIS MIND

When you have quite made up your mind
To do a thing, do do it!
As surely as you put it off
You're bound some day to rue it.

That is one of the truest things in the world. It is a great mistake to put off doing a thing you have made up your mind should be done. Just as sure as you do, the day will come when you will be sorry. It is doing promptly the things that must be done that helps the great world along. And it saves a deal of trouble—trouble for yourself and trouble for others. On the other hand, don't do things hastily. Don't do a thing and think about it later. Think first, make sure in your own mind what is right, then do it. You know what a lot of trouble Peter Rabbit gets into by doing his thinking too late. Sammy Jay doesn't often make this mistake.

So that is why Sammy sat in his thinking tree and argued with himself about telling the secret of Reddy Fox and Mrs. Reddy. He wanted to tell it. He could find a lot of reasons why he should tell it. He tried to make himself believe that it was his duty to tell it. At least, his better self said that he shouldn't tell the whole secret. It would be all right to tell Peter Rabbit and Danny Meadow Mouse and a few others that Reddy and Mrs. Reddy had babies and for this reason would be sure to hunt harder than ever, but it wouldn't be right to tell where those babies were hidden. Sammy wanted to tell the whole secret, not half of it. So he argued and argued with himself, until at last he made up his mind what he would do.

"Well, I've settled it, anyway. I've made up my mind just what I'll do," said he right out, forgetting that he might be overheard.

"What will you do?" demanded Chatterer the Red Squirrel from the very next tree, where he had been watching Sammy, though Sammy didn't know it.

"If I told you, then you'd know. But instead I think I'll go," retorted Sammy, snapping his sharp eyes at Chatterer. You know, these two scamps are forever quarreling.

"All right, Mr. Smarty," barked Chatterer, "but if you really do know what you'll do, I guess it will be the first time such a thing ever happened."

Right away Sammy's temper flared up and he half spread his wings to fly at Chatterer. Just in time he remembered that Chatterer really was bubbling over with curiosity to know what was in his mind, so, instead of flying at Chatterer, he chuckled and replied, "I really do know, and if you knew what I know you would know what no one else but Reddy Fox and Mrs. Reddy know. Can you guess what it is?"

"No," replied Chatterer. "What is it?" His sharp face was very eager, for Chatterer likes to know all that is going on.

"That would be telling," retorted Sammy saucily. "Ask Reddy Fox."

With that Sammy flew away, chuckling to himself, while Chatterer flew into a rage and barked all the bad things he could think of after him. Sammy flew straight over to the dear Old Brier Patch to look for Peter Rabbit. He had made up his mind to tell Peter and Danny Meadow Mouse and a few others about Reddy's babies, that they might keep a sharper watch on their own babies, but that he wouldn't tell where Reddy's babies were. In this way he would be doing Peter and the others a service and, at the same time, would be doing Reddy no harm.

Next Story: Peter and Mrs. Peter Grateful to Sammy.

What Today Means

CANCER

If June 26 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 9:15 to 11:15 a.m., from 1:15 to 3:15 p.m. and from 7:15 to 9:15 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:15 to 9:15 a.m., from 5:15 to 7:15 p.m. and from 9:15 to 11:15 p.m.

An urge for companionship will be the primary cause of the average person being in an unusually sociable humor today, and ready to devote more time to entertaining than to business. In a desire to get other people's reactions, many people may be inclined to discuss their personal affairs too freely, which to say the least will be poor judgment. In their desire to be "penny wise, pound foolish" a good many people will buy on price rather than quality today, and later on will have good cause to regret doing so. Through an exaggerated idea of their own smariness many a wise-acre will disregard Government rules and regulations regarding commodities and rationing provisos, only to discover they have gotten themselves into a lot of hot water, so do not make the mistake of thinking you can outwit your Government. Married, engaged and courting couples may do well to realize that "nothing can bring you peace but yourself."

If a woman and June 25 is your birthday, it might be well to realize experienced salesmen are generally ambassadors of good will, whose chief mission is to have satisfied customers through rendering real service and worthwhile information, so never make the mistake of underrating their good-will value to you. If you expect other people to listen to you, when you have something to say, be prepared to accord to others the same courtesy. You, with little effort, can train yourself to remain calm when others become excited, and this is one of the most important things you must learn to do if you are to successfully regulate your home or business. As a business manager, teacher, professional entertainer, purchasing agent, writer, news reporter, literary agent, personal director, demonstrator, actress, singer, artist, secretary, or through services to your country, you ought to make an enviable name and a very substantial income. Through being open and above board in all things, you and the man you marry should find your matrimonial life all that either one of you could desire it to be.

The child born on June 26 develops, as a rule, a decidedly analytical mind and is seldom satisfied with a foolish or evasive reply to a sensible question. The sooner parents recognize this the closer they will become to their offspring. The fathers and mothers of Cancer's children cannot expect to share their confidences unless they prove they are worthy of them. Children born under this sign have seldom any trouble in getting the world to accept them at their own face value.

If a man and June 26 is your natal day, you can only expect others to live up to your expectations if you will set them an example they can follow. You are living in an extremely practical age, so you must deal with facts and not theories if you expect to succeed, especially if you are a politician, promoter, financier, skilled mechanic, doctor, lawyer, architect, contractor, business executive, journalist, author, actor, or fighting the Axis.

How It Started—

By JEAN NEWTON

"POLITENESS COSTS YOU NOTHING—"

Things have been picking up since North Africa — Sweden is thinking out loud; the Ottomans are talking turkey; Spain, the Balkans are giving the United Nations not only a nod, but a smile.

They still, of course, pay lip respect to the Fuehrer; but it's beginning to partake of the routine of the old lady in church who was seen to bow every time the name of Satan was mentioned.

When the pastor inquired as to her reason, she explained:

"Well, politeness costs you nothing—and you never can tell."

Canadians at Work in Alaska

TO WORK ON FARMS

Make Application for Board of Arbitration

VANCOUVER, June 24 (CP) — Application for a board of arbitration to investigate the dispute over union recognition between the International Woodworkers of America and Lake Logging Co. Ltd. of Cowichan Lake, will likely be made early next week.

Nigel Morgan, executive board member of the I.W.A., leaves today for Cowichan Lake to attend a meeting of the union. He said that the employees of the lake logging operations would make their own decision regarding the board of arbitration, but that it was likely that an application would be made early in the week.

The war is saving money for a man in Southwest England who has high blood pressure. He used to pay $50 to a surgeon to be bled, but nowadays he follows the mobile blood collecting teams of the Army Blood Supply Depot and has it done for nothing.

Says Co-operate While Canada's Influence at Peak

"Start now, while your moral influence is at its peak, to build an understanding that will be a practical basis of co-operation for the future between our two continents," stated Humberto Diaz Casanueva, secretary of the Chilean Legation at Ottawa and professor of social sciences, at a Rotary luncheon yesterday in the Empress Hotel.

The future of the Americas is a common one, both from a spiritual and a commercial standpoint, said Mr. Casanueva, but "we must convince our countries that commercial treaties will follow spiritual agreement."

"Your mountains and lakes and your friendship are very similar to my country and I find myself very happy here," he said. "We must clear up the misunderstandings of the past, and our interests in each other will blossom."

In the past Canadians had forgotten the possibilities of the Latin-American countries, he said, while in Chile it was thought that Canadians were not quite fellow Americans, but more European, and that their fate had little to do with that of other Americans.

"You have thought of us as backward and mostly good for movie scenarios; we have seen your country as a great vast land with a Mounfie getting his man, but that is past, and now your scenery and your industrial activity, and more recently your magnificent war effort, have captured our imagination," he continued, explaining how diplomatic and commercial missions, visits of newsmen and movies from the Bureau of National Information had changed the picture and made a magnificent start in international co-operation.

Mr. Casanueva suggested that Canada and South America initiate an exchange of university students, translate each others books, create more scholarships and keep one another abreast of social and industrial changes brought about by the war, adding.

"Texts that fall short of letting us know about each other should be revised, and broadcasting stations should be powered to reach further."

George I. Warren, in introducing the speaker, told of his years as professor of social sciences at Santiago University and as a professor in Vienna, until expelled by the Nazis.

From Victoria the secretary of the Chilean Legation will travel north to Dawson and other points.

J. Eaves, advance agent for the Canadian Army Show, told Rotary members of the success of the soldier artists and of offers from Hollywood for the show to appear there. But the show members all wanted to go overseas, he said.

A number of out-of-town guests were introduced, among them being Ernest Mallory, of Olympia, a mining executive; Oscar Pearson, Vancouver; Clyde Compton, Vancouver, and Herbert Gee, of Westmount, Quebec.

Gives Talk to Queen's Alumni

Lieut.-Commander G. S. Graham, of the Royal Canadian Naval College, Royal Roads, and recently professor at Queen's University, Kingston, addressed the annual meeting of the Queen's Alumni Association on Wednesday evening at the home of Rev. Dr. H. A. and Mrs. McLeod, who were hosts to the members.

Commander Graham spent two years in Germany in the early thirties and was again in that country on research work in the Summer of 1939, before the outbreak of war. He spoke on international problems, post-war, political and economic relations, pointing out the great dangers of repeating the mistakes made at the close of the last war, and the vital need for the smaller nations particularly to relax their individual sovereignty and to enter into full co-operation with the stronger Allied nations for the maintenance of peace.

He stressed the importance of a peace based on justice to the victims without leaving an embittered Germany resulting in preparation for another war. He was greatly impressed by what he considered as one of the most potent underlying forces in Germany, namely, the dictatorship of the mind, which must be dealt with in all peace negotiations and treaties, he said.

Rev. Dr. Bruce Taylor, former principal of Queen's University, was present and thanked Commander Graham, as one of his best-known students, for his thought-provoking address, and added some interesting reminiscences of his own experiences in Europe.

The officers of the association appointed for the ensuing year are: President, Rev. Dr. H. A. McLeod; vice-president, Mr. W. B. Hughes; [illegible] Pringle.

After refreshments had been served a social hour was enjoyed.
